Hampden-Sydney College

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE, a liberal-arts college for men now enrolling 550 students, has been in continuous operation since January, 1776. Affiliated with the Presbyterian Church in the United States, it is located in the heart of Virginia near Farmville.

Its aim is to give to selected young men of ability a broad understanding of the world and man's place in it from the standpoint of the sciences and the humanities; to develop clear thinking through linguistic, scientific, and historical studies; to impart a comprehension of man's social institutions as a basis for the exercise of intelligent citizenship in a democracy; to unite sound scholarship with the principles and practice of the Christian religion; and to equip those with special interests and capacities for graduate study and research.

The campus consists of a wooded tract of 500 acres on which appropriate buildings, valued at $4,000,000, have been erected. The college is supported by an endowment of $3,500,000 and by annual gifts from alumni, friends, and the Synod of Virginia.

The college holds membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the Association of Virginia Colleges, the Association of American Colleges, the Southern University Conference, the College Entrance Examination Board, and the College Scholarship Service.

Hampden-Sydney is a charter member of the University Center in Virginia, a cooperative unit of twenty-four of the strongest educational institutions of Virginia.

Historical Sketch of Hampden-Sydney College

THE need for an educational institution with the location and general character of Hampden-Sydney College arose from certain forces that developed in the Virginia Colony in the last half of the eighteenth century. First among these was the organization, in 1755, of the Presbytery of Hanover, which covered not only Virginia and the Carolinas, but extended even over a large part of the territory which later formed the State of Ohio. The task of organizing and developing this extensive presbytery was assigned to a talented young clergyman of Delaware, Samuel Davies, who, after his notable evangelistic work in Virginia, was called to succeed Jonathan Edwards as president of the College of New Jersey, and to John Todd, great-uncle of Mary Todd, the wife of Abraham Lincoln.

As a result of the labors of these leaders and their fellow workers the influence of active Presbyterianism soon began to be felt in Virginia. In the southern and central sections of the colony this sprang from a union of Scotch-Irish elements in Charlotte and Prince Edward counties with a mingling of English, Welsh, and Huguenot groups in Cumberland and Prince Edward, among whom the dissenting point of view in religion and a growing liberalism in political thought developed side by side. Among these groups the need for educational opportunity was keenly felt. The College of William and Mary, the only seat of higher learning in eastern Virginia, was somewhat remote from the central and southern sections of the colony. It was mainly under the influence of the Church of England; and, furthermore, as the hostility between the Colonies and the Home Government became more intense and threatening, it was thought that its location in a region of military camps and one that was likely to become a scene of future conflict made its educational outlook unfavorable.

The Presbyterian clergy of central Virginia and the families of their congregations, feeling strongly the need of an educational institution for their youth, had made some unsuccessful efforts in this direction as early as 1772. In October, 1774, the Presbytery of Hanover resumed the undertaking. A plan for subscriptions to the cause was set up and the erection of an academy was authorized in 1775 on a tract of ninety-eight acres of land donated by Peter Johnston, a native of Edinburgh, who had been among the early settlers in Prince Edward County. The Old College Building, a two-story brick structure, was reared on the plot of ground slightly to the north of the present Hampden House. According to the original plan, the school was to be opened in November of 1775, but owing to delay in the completion of the building, a slight postponement was necessary. The formal opening took place on January 1, 1776, with 110 students in attendance under the direction of the first Principal, or Rector, the Reverend Samuel Stanhope Smith, a graduate of the College of New Jersey. As the number of students was larger than had been anticipated, it was found necessary to house some of them in temporary structures for the first session.

Law office of Nathaniel Venable, in which the College was founded

Venable Hall, freshman dormitory

The institution was first known as both an academy and a college. It has been clearly shown by the researches of the late Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, former president of the College, that in addition to the preparatory work that was being done, courses of full collegiate grade also were conducted in the first years of the institution's history. President Smith in his opening prospectus stated: "The system of education will resemble that which is adopted in the College of New Jersey, save that a more particular attention will be paid to the English language than is usually done in places of public education." He also announced that strong emphasis would be placed on scientific studies. Moreover, very clear evidence of the definite purpose of the institution "to form good men and good citizens" is found in the early stress given to speech training shown in the wide range of important public questions discussed by the students in their literary and philosophical societies, as well as in the somewhat profound and classical themes presented in their early commencement orations.

The name Hampden-Sydney, chosen for the college-academy, symbolized the union of civil and religious liberty, the first element being derived from the name of John Hampden, opponent of the "ship money" tax in the time of Charles I, and the second from Algernon Sydney, a defender of religious liberty in the reign of Charles II. In 1783 the institution was regularly chartered as a college by the Virginia House of Delegates. A memorial from the trustees of Hampden-Sydney, suggesting this action, had been presented to the House of Delegates in November, 1776, but as the matter had not yet been urged with sufficient force, the Legislature had delayed in granting the appeal. In 1784 and 1794 tracts of land were donated to the college by the Commonwealth. In fact, it is clear from some of the correspondence between Thomas Jefferson and Joseph Cabell with reference to educational plans for Virginia that Hampden-Sydney was viewed, in its early years, as a definite part of the general educational system of the State and, accordingly, was deserving of some support through public appropriations. At the time of the general movement for the founding of the state university it was even mentioned as one of the possible locations for the institution. Although the college had been launched largely under Presbyterian auspices, it was not formally affiliated with the church. Among its early supporters were many members of the Church of England. The war for independence had aroused a sense of national unity and had increased among citizens of all classes a desire for educational advantages to fit men for the new and broadening opportunities that were opening before them.

From its beginning the college showed willingness to accept its full share of responsibility for the maintenance of the national welfare. On its first board of trustees are found the names of Patrick Henry and James Madison. Among its early alumni were William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States, Joseph Cabell, Jefferson's righthand man in his great educational work for Virginia, and William Cabell, the noted physician who attended Patrick Henry in his last illness. The charter of the college declared: "That in order to preserve in the minds of the students that sacred love and attachment which they should bear to the principles of the present glorious revolution, the greatest care and caution should be used in electing of such professors and masters, to the end that no person shall be so elected unless the uniform tenor of his conduct manifests to the world his sincere affection for the liberty and independence of the United States of America." Clear evidence of the reality of this ideal promptly appeared. The first student military company in the country was organized on the campus, and at the threat of an invasion of the colony by the British in 1777, this company marched to Williamsburg under the leadership of Captain John Blair Smith, one of the tutors of the college and a brother of the president. At a later stage of the war a similar march was made to Petersburg. A company was likewise organized on the campus in the War of 1812 and another in the War Between the States. Students and alumni also bore their full part in the Spanish-American War, as they have conspicuously done in the two great world conflicts of the present century.

In 1779 Samuel Stanhope Smith was called to the faculty of the College of New Jersey (later becoming president as successor to John Witherspoon), and his brother, John Blair Smith, succeeded him in the management of Hampden-Sydney College. Following him came a line of distinguished presidents whose names appear in the list that follows this sketch. The college was not sectarian, as shown by the appointment of Jonathan P. Cushing, a prominent Episcopal layman, a graduate of Dartmouth College, as president in 1821. During the fourteen years of his administration the greater early enlargements of the physical plant were made. Cushing Hall, named after the president, was erected in that period as the main college building. The building to the west of this, later known as the "Alamo," had been built in part in 1817 as the home of President Moses Hoge. This was now considerably enlarged. President Cushing's administration was the most significant one during the first half of the nineteenth century. During this period Union Theological Seminary was founded on ground adjoining the college to the south. The Seminary was the outgrowth of the Department of Divinity organized by President Hoge, grandfather of the Reverend Moses D. Hoge, the famous pulpit orator of the Second Presbyterian Church of Richmond, Virginia, from 1845 to 1899. The Seminary became a separate institution in 1823 and continued to operate at this site until its removal in 1898 to its present location in the Ginter Park section of Richmond. Upon the removal of the Seminary, Major Richard M. Venable purchased and donated to the college the academic buildings and three residences.

The Seminary buildings, erected in the period between 1823 and 1880, occupied the ridge on the south side of the campus. These buildings included the central structure which, after some alterations and enlargements, has become Venable Hall of the present college, the two residences on either side of Venable Hall, and the former library, now part of Winston Hall.

The physical plant of the college continued to increase and expand during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries as the need arose. Today the 500-acre campus contains twelve major buildings, in addition to thirty-four dwellings.

In 1919 an amendment to the charter placed the college under the control of a Board of Trustees directly appointed by the Synod of Virginia. This relationship between the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the college continues to exist.

Admission of Students

A young man applying for admission to Hampden-Sydney College as a freshman should plan to enroll in September. Rarely is an entering student admitted at the beginning of the second semester, for the distinctive curriculum makes no provision for mid-year admissions.

Details of the Early Decision Plan and the Regular Plan are given in the next pages. All inquiries should be addressed to the director of admissions.

Hampden-Sydney reserves the right to send the college grades of its students to the high school of origin for purposes of counseling and evaluation.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- I. An applicant must be graduated from an accredited secondary school or its equivalent in order for his acceptance to be confirmed by the college.
- II. Preparation in secondary school should include the following:
 - A. Four units in English.
 - B. At least two units of algebra.
 - C. One unit of plane geometry. Solid geometry, trigonometry, and other advanced mathematics courses are recommended.
 - D. One unit of chemistry, biology, or physics.
 - E. At least two units of one foreign language.
 - F. One unit of history or civics.
 - G. Additional courses in mathematics, science, history, government, and languages.
- III. Applicants for admission to Hampden-Sydney are required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and three (3) Achievement Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. The scores must be reported to Hampden-Sydney by the College Board. The SAT must be taken in December or January of the senior year, preferably in December. Candidates for early decision must take the SAT before the senior year.

Achievement Tests must be taken in the senior year in December or January, except for early decision candidates, who must take them before the senior year. Achievement Tests required are the following:

English Composition

Mathematics, Level I (Level II may be taken in lieu of Level I, if a student has high mathematical ability and is taking or has completed an advanced mathematics course. A conference with a counselor or mathematics teacher is recommended before taking Level II.)

A third test selected by the candidate. If this test is in a subject completed before the senior year, the test does not have to be repeated in the senior year.

Complete information regarding these tests may be obtained by writing to the College Entrance Examination Board, Post Office Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

- IV. Applicants who are accepted and indicate they plan to enroll will be sent a health certificate to be completed by the family physician. This form must be received and accepted by the college physician before a student may matriculate.

REGULAR PLAN

The application form should be completed by the student and returned to the director of admissions, preferably in the fall of the senior year and no later than March 1. The blank transcript and personal appraisal form provided by the college should be given to the proper secondary school officer, who should return the completed form to the college.

In February a card will be sent to an applicant if all evidence in support of the application has not been received. Anything lacking must be received by March 1, or full consideration of the application cannot be guaranteed.

Most decisions by the admissions committee are reached in February and March, although notification may be earlier or later in some cases.

The college subscribes to the Candidates Reply Date, which allows an accepted student until early May to notify Hampden-Sydney of his decision. The college, however, appreciates being notified as soon as the applicant has made his decision. The letter of confirmation accepting the offer of admission must be accompanied by a non-refundable, $100.00 advance deposit applicable to first-semester fees.

EARLY DECISION PLAN

Hampden-Sydney is a member of the Uniform Early Decision Group. The object of this plan is to reduce the necessity for filing multiple applications and to reduce the anxiety attending later acceptance. The plan is for applicants who, after consulting with school authorities and parents, judge that Hampden-Sydney College is their first choice and that they satisfy the following eligibility requirements:

1. Top quarter rank in class at the end of the junior year
2. Verbal and mathematical scores on the SAT that total at least 1100

Under this plan, the student:

- A. Agrees to apply only to Hampden-Sydney until he is notified of the college's decision (by December 1).
- B. Agrees to have his completed application, including transcript and SAT and Achievement Test scores, in by November 1. Financial assistance applicants must have the Parents' Confidential Statement filed with the College Scholarship Service by November 1, preferably much earlier.
- C. Agrees to notify Hampden-Sydney of his decision regarding matriculation by the date stated in his acceptance letter. A non-refundable deposit of $100.00, applicable to first-semester fees, must accompany a confirmation.

Under this plan, Hampden-Sydney:

- A. Agrees to render a decision on admissions (and financial assistance, if requested) by December 1. The decision in each case will be either acceptance or deferment; no rejections will be made under this plan.

- B. Agrees not to require the accepted candidate who has indicated his intention to matriculate and who has made his deposit to take further admission tests.
- C. Guarantees the deferred applicant that his application will receive thorough, unbiased consideration under the Regular Plan; however, he must take the SAT and Achievement Tests again in his senior year. The deferred candidate will be free to apply to other colleges.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT AND CREDIT

Hampden-Sydney subscribes to the purposes of the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board. Entering students who have completed advanced work in secondary school and who present satisfactory grades on the Advanced Placement Examinations or other appropriate evidence may receive credit toward graduation and may be placed in courses above the level of the freshman year. In all cases decisions regarding advanced placement and credit shall be made by the department concerned.

FACTORS INFLUENCING A DECISION

The secondary school academic record is the most important item. Significant also are the recommendation of school officials and the overall pattern represented by test scores, personal qualifications, and contributions to church, school, and community activities.

CAMPUS VISITS

Interviews are not required, but an applicant is encouraged to visit the campus and the admissions office. A written request for an appointment with the director of admissions should be made two weeks in advance of an anticipated visit. From September through May the admissions office is open for appointments on weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., except during traditional school holidays, and on Saturday mornings from 9:00 a.m. until noon. In June, July, and August the office is open only on weekdays, not on weekends.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Hampden-Sydney has no summer school. An entering student who plans to attend summer school to acquire college credit before matriculating at Hampden-Sydney should obtain clearance from the registrar to ensure the transference of the credits.

READMISSION

A former Hampden-Sydney student desiring to return to Hampden-Sydney should write to the director of admissions for an application form for readmission. Students planning to enter in February should apply no later than December 1; those planning to enter in September should apply by March 1.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Hampden-Sydney accepts each year a limited number of transfer students. September is the normal time for entrance, although occasionally a student is accepted for admission for the second semester.

Transferring from one college to another almost always involves loss of credits. For this and other reasons a change of college is to be discouraged. Tentative credits may be accorded a student transferring course work similar to that offered by Hampden-Sydney from an accredited institution. These credits will become final upon the satisfactory completion of his first semester of work at Hampden-Sydney. If the student shows that he cannot do the work undertaken, the credit will be withdrawn or adjusted. No credit will be allowed for work taken elsewhere if the student earns credit for the equivalent of this work at Hampden-Sydney.

A student seeking admission from another institution must have earned grades above the minimum passing mark in the courses which he presents for transfer. (See section on Transfer Credits.) It is the policy of the college to deny admission to a transfer student unless the student is eligible to return to the college from which he wishes to transfer.

All inquiries should be addressed to the director of admissions.

Financial Assistance

Hampden-Sydney College participates in the College Scholarship Service (CSS) of the College Entrance Examination Board and is also a member of the Southern College Scholarship Group. Participants in the CSS subscribe to the principle that the amount of financial aid granted a student should be based upon financial need. The CSS assists colleges and universities and other agencies in determining the student's need for financial assistance. Parents of applicants seeking financial assistance are required to submit the Parents' Confidential Statement (PCS) to the CSS by February 21, preferably much earlier. Hampden-Sydney College should be designated as a recipient.

Financial assistance consists of scholarships, loans, and campus employment, which may be offered to students singly or in various combinations.

In selecting students to receive financial assistance, the student aid committee places primary emphasis upon need, academic achievement, character, and future promise.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The George F. Baker Scholarship

Hampden-Sydney College is one of a small number of strong liberal arts colleges to be awarded grants for its scholarship program by the George F. Baker Trust. From three to five four-year scholarships will be awarded to incoming freshmen who are among the most promising applicants for admission based on the quality of leadership, character, and intellectual ability and achievement.

Those selected to compete for the scholarships will be invited to the campus for interviews with a selection committee composed of leading business men. Baker Scholars will be chosen without regard to financial need. However, the actual stipend awarded will range from $100.00 to $2,000.00 per year and will meet the financial need of each scholar as nearly as possible.

The Venable Scholarship

The Venable Scholarship, one of the highest honors bestowed upon an entering freshman, is awarded to a young man representing the highest type of manhood. This is a four-year scholarship ranging in value from $100.00 to $2,000.00 per year, the actual amount being dependent upon the financial need of the winner.

Honor Scholarships

Approximately four Honor Scholarships are awarded to incoming freshmen in recognition of superior academic and extracurricular achievements. This four-year scholarship has a value of up to $1,400.00 per year, the actual amount reflecting the financial need of the recipient. If no need is evident, the award is honorary.

Leadership Awards

The two Leadership Awards, including the Moomaw Award, are awarded to entering freshmen who have demonstrated noteworthy leadership achievement. Each is a four-year scholarship with a value of up to $1,400.00 per year, the exact amount depending upon the financial need of the winner. If there is no financial need, the award is honorary.

GRANTS-IN-AID

This is the largest source of revenue for financial aid. The funds consist of money derived from endowment, gifts to the college, and direct grants from the college.

GUARANTEED LOANS

The college recommends loans for qualified students through the United Student Aid Funds, a private, non-profit corporation which endorses low-cost loans made by a student's home-town bank. Also, most states have agencies guaranteeing loans to students for educational expenses.

In each plan a student may borrow up to $1,000.00 per academic year from a participating bank, usually a bank in the student's home town. Repayment begins after one leaves college. Interest is no more than 6% and interest starts when the loan is made. For a student who qualifies under Federal law, the government will pay the interest until repayments begin and 3% interest while the student is repaying the loan. One qualifies for this interest subsidy normally if one's adjusted family income is below $15,000.00 per year. Further details can be gotten from banks or by writing to the admissions office.

BOOKER-STEBBINS LOAN FUND

A student may borrow up to one-half of his college expenses for the year at 3% simple interest. Repayment must be made before the beginning of the next academic session. This is primarily a source for an emergency or short-term loan.

FEDERAL PROGRAM

In cooperation with the federal government the college offers Educational Opportunity Grants. The college and the government combine their financial resources and award grants to worthy students who lack sufficient financial resources to enable them to attend college.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

New Students

Every applicant for financial aid should first secure an application form for admission to Hampden-Sydney, on which he may note his intention to apply for financial assistance. An applicant's parents must then submit a Parents' Confidential Statement (PCS) to the CSS by February 21, preferably much earlier. The PCS may be obtained from a school counselor or from the College Scholarship Service, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey.

Financial aid decisions are made by the admissions and student aid committee. Notices are mailed with the admissions decision whenever possible. Applying for aid in no way affects the admissions decision.

Students Enrolled at Hampden-Sydney

Hampden-Sydney students applying for aid for the first time or for a renewal or increase of present aid should obtain from the director of admissions a Parents' Confidential Statement, which should be completed by the parents and returned to the admissions office by February 15th. Award notices are mailed to students by May 15.

Renewal

Awards are made for one session only. A PCS must be filed with the admissions office each year, and the committee upon review of the PCS may make adjustments in the award reflecting changes in the financial situation.

A student normally is expected to maintain a 1.0 (maximum 3.0) academic average each academic year to retain aid for the next year. Baker, Venable, Honor, and Leadership award winners are expected to maintain a 1.5 average to retain their scholarships.

The composition of the total award (how much is grant, loan, job) each year will reflect the quality of the student's academic work. Generally, those with the highest averages will receive more grant and less loan than those with lower averages.

Awards may be cancelled at any time when the department or the work of the recipient is deemed unsatisfactory.

Expenses

THESE are made up of certain fixed fees payable to the college and several variable expenses.

FIXED FEES

(1967-1968)

Comprehensive Fee	$1,400.00
Room rent in Cushing, Graham, and Venable Halls	200.00
Room rent in Whitehouse Hall	300.00
Board	450.00

Total$2,000.00-$2,100.00

Special Fees:

Late Enrollment	$ 5.00
Re-examination	5.00
Graduation Fee	15.00
Extra Courses*	50.00

VARIABLE EXPENSES

Each student pays for his own:

Books (approximate cost)	$75.00
Laundry (approximate cost)	55.00
Personal Expenses (determined by student and his parents)
Laboratory Breakage Deposit (for certain courses)

Books may be purchased at the College Shop. Laundry may be arranged through student agents of local laundries. Personal expenses involving clothes, travel, amusements, dues to organizations, and incidentals are subject to personal habits and means.

The breakage deposit is returnable except for the actual cost of materials destroyed.

EXPLANATION OF FEES

Student fees cover only about half of the cost of the student's education; the remaining half is provided by income from endowment and the gifts of alumni, friends, and the Synod of Virginia.

*For each additional course carried above the normal five-course load there is an added charge of $50 per semester. The charge is made on the basis of registration at the end of the second week.

The Comprehensive Fee covers tuition, materials required in laboratory courses, medical care in the college infirmary, accident and hospitalization insurance, admission to athletic events held on the college campus, the cost to students of student publications, Campus Christian Association privileges, and other activities; but does not cover breakage of college property or the purchase of expendable materials for laboratory courses.

Room rent in the dormitory covers cost of occupancy and use of utilities. Freshmen live in Venable and Graham Halls; upper classmen in Cushing, Graham, and Whitehouse Halls.

The rooms are furnished with dressers, beds, mattresses, springs, desks, and chairs. Bed coverings, pillows, towels, curtains, etc., are furnished by the student according to his taste.

Each student is responsible to the College for the condition of his room and is expected to report any damage of college property to the business office. He must pay the cost of repairs.

The dining hall located in the student activities building, Winston Hall, provides for the board of students. Slater Food Service Management is in charge of all operations. In addition to the main dining hall, the William Henry Harrison Room is available for banquets and special occasions, while the Patrick Henry Room specializes in a la carte service for students, faculty, and their guests.

All resident students are admitted with the understanding that they must board at the dining hall.

In the senior year there is payable on February 1st a graduation fee of $15.00, which covers cost of diploma and rental of cap and gown for the Commencement season.

PAYMENT OF FEES*

One-half of the fixed fees is payable on or before registration in September; the balance is due on or before second-semester registration.

Checks should be made payable to Hampden-Sydney College and mailed to the Business Office.

*New students pay an advance deposit of $100.00 upon acceptance of admission. This deposit is not refundable. Old students pay an advance deposit of $50.00 on or before March 15, and may obtain refund in the event of withdrawal not later than June 15. The advance payment is credited toward regular fees upon entrance in September.

Undergraduate research in Chemistry is supported in part by grants from the National Science Foundation and from industry

MONTHLY PAYMENTS

For those parents wishing to make payments monthly rather than in a lump sum, the college offers the following plans:

Education Funds, Inc. One, two, or three years of schooling with payments spaced over 12, 24, or 36 months, and four years of schooling with payments spaced over 40, 48, or 60 months.

State-Planters Bank College Tuition Plan, Inc. One, two, three or four years of schooling with payments spaced over 8 to 10 months, 20 to 26 months, 30 to 54 months, and 40 to 72 months, respectively.

Under these plans the parent borrows from Education Funds, from the State-Planters Bank, or Tuition Plan and makes monthly repayments to the lending institution, which in turn will pay the college in a lump sum at the appointed times twice a year. In addition, these financing plans provide life insurance features which will insure continuation of education by guaranteeing uninterrupted payments to the school in the event of the death of the parent.

RETURN OF FEES

There is no refund of fees, except when the college physician recommends the withdrawal of a student before the middle of a semester for reasons of health. When this occurs the student will be refunded $250.00.

There is no refund of room rent.

A refund of unused board is allowed if withdrawal occurs prior to two weeks before the end of a semester.

SCHOLARSHIP PAYMENTS

One half of the value of a scholarship or grant-in-aid awarded to a student will be credited against the first semester's charges; the balance will be credited to the student's account for the second semester.

LIFE INSURANCE

The University Life Insurance Plan is available to Hampden-Sydney students on an optional basis. It provides coverage of $10,000.00 of annually renewable, convertible term insurance with the Fidelity Bankers Life Insurance Corporation. The annual premium is $20 per year through age twenty-four and $25 per year for ages twenty-five through twenty-nine.

Degree Requirements

B.A. DEGREE

For the B.A. degree a candidate must complete the following prescribed courses together with elective courses to total 124 semester hours of credit and must earn 124 quality units.

	SEMESTER HOURS
Bible 101-102 and Bible 201-202	12
English 101-102 and English 201-202	12
Mathematics	6
Classical Language, Greek or Latin†	12
Modern Language†	12
Advanced Foreign Language or Advanced English	6
History 101-102	6
Philosophy 301-302	6

Any two of the following courses:

Biology 103-104	8
Chemistry 101-102	8
Physics 101-102	8

Each student must choose a major in one department or an area of concentration in related departments. Specific requirements are found in the headings of the departmental course offerings.

Freshmen entering in September 1967 and thereafter will be required to take the freshman-sophomore Humanities program, which will replace the requirement of Bible 101-102, English 101-102, and History 101-102 and will carry 20 semester hours of credit for the two years.

†The 12-hour requirement will be reduced to six for each language in which a student directly enters and successfully completes a year of work at the 300-level.

B.S. DEGREE

For the B.S. degree a candidate must complete the following prescribed courses together with elective courses to total 124 semester hours of credit and must earn 124 quality units.

	SEMESTER HOURS
Bible 101-102 and Bible 201-202	12
English 101-102 and English 201-202	12
Mathematics 103-104 and 201-202 [†]	12
Foreign Languages*	18
History 101-102	6
Biology 103-104	8
Chemistry 101-102	8
Physics 101-102	8
Political Science 201-202 or Economics 201-202	6

Each student must choose a major in one department or an area of concentration in related departments. Specific requirements are found in the headings of the departmental course offerings.

Freshmen entering in September 1967 and thereafter will be required to take the freshman-sophomore Humanities program, which will replace the requirement of Bible 101-102, English 101-102, and History 101-102 and will carry 20 semester hours of credit for the two years.

[†] The requirement of Mathematics 103-104 is waived if the student directly enters and successfully completes Mathematics 201-202.

*A candidate for the B.S. degree must complete two 300-level semester courses in one foreign language, or two 200-level semester courses in each of two foreign languages, or Latin 103-104 and two 200-level semester courses in another foreign language.

HOURS REQUIRED

For the B.A. or B.S. degree, a candidate must complete, together with the prescribed work, enough elective courses to aggregate 124 semester hours of credit. All requirements must be completed in ten semesters or less. A minimum of 152 semester hours of credit and a B average are required of a student who wishes to take both degrees. The semester hour of credit is authorized for a class which meets fifty minutes per week for the semester, or for the laboratory which meets two and one-half hours per week for the semester.

A minimum residence of one academic year, the last year preceding graduation, is required.

If a student fails to graduate with his class, he may receive not more than eight semester hours of credit and eight quality points for work done elsewhere following termination of residence. A maximum of thirty semester hours of credit may be earned in summer schools.

QUALITATIVE REQUIREMENTS

The requirements for graduation shall include 124 quality units. Grades and quality units are given on the following basis:

GRADES	MEANING	QUALITY UNITS
A	Excellent	Three per semester hour
B	Good	Two per semester hour
C	Average	One per semester hour
D	Below average	None
E	Failure—may continue*	None
F	Failure	None
WF	Withdrawn, failing	None

*This grade is given only for the first semester of continuing (0-6) courses. If a student receives the grade of E, he may continue in the immediately following semester of that course. If the grade for the second semester is satisfactory, the student will not be required to repeat the work of the first semester, and the graduation requirement of the whole course will be fulfilled. No hours of credit will be given for the semester which bears the grade of E.

HONORS COURSES

HONORS courses for juniors and seniors are available in various departments. Approval by the professor who will direct the course and by the academic dean will be required. Prerequisite for such a course is two years of study in that department. A tentative plan for the course must be filed with the academic dean by the fourth week of the first semester. The course will normally require two semesters of work and will carry three hours of credit per semester. The credit will apply toward the degree requirements.

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

Graduation with honors shall be according to the following requirements:

Cum laude	a grade point ratio of 2.3
Magna cum laude	a grade point ratio of 2.5
Summa cum laude	a grade point ratio of 2.7

Note: The maximum grade point ratio is 3.0.

PREPARATION FOR PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS

Special programs are suggested for students who may wish ultimately to seek admission to one of the professions or to a professional school.

Medicine and Dentistry

According to the publication Medical School Admission Requirements (17th edition), published by the Association of American Colleges, "Medicine needs individuals with a diversity of educational background and a wide variety of talents and interests. . . . Specific premedical course requirements . . . vary among the medical schools, but all recognize the desirability of a broad education—a good foundation in the natural sciences (mathematics, chemistry, biology, and physics), highly developed communication skills, and a rich background in the social sciences and humanities."

Eight semester-hours of each of the following basic science courses are required for admission to virtually every medical school: general chemistry, organic chemistry, general biology, and general physics. Additional requirements are specified for some schools. Dental school requirements are similar. While not required at most schools, the following courses are strongly recommended for the premedical student: genetics, cell biology, physical chemistry, the calculus, and Latin.

The premedical student may choose any major offered by Hampden-Sydney College, according to his interests. An interest in science leads many to select a major in the biological, behavioral, or natural sciences, but there is no compelling necessity to do so. However, "the student who majors in a non-scientific field and elects the minimum number of required science courses must excel in them to insure the adequacy of his preparation and a favorable consideration of his application." (Medical School Admission Requirements, 17th edition.)

In order to prepare himself for the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) or the Dental Aptitude Test, generally taken at the end of the junior year, the student must complete the required basic science courses in his first three years. In order to develop the intellectual skills needed for good performance on the MCAT and to prove his motivation and ability for advanced study in medical science, the student should elect a demanding curriculum in every semester. This should typically include at least two courses per semester in science and/or mathematics, and more for the well qualified, science-oriented student.

Law

The Association of American Law Schools suggests no particular subjects for pre-legal training but recommends a program aimed at the following objectives:

1. Comprehension and expression in words.
2. Critical understanding of the human institutions and values with which the law deals.
3. Creative power in thinking.

Since many of the goals of legal education are also goals of liberal education, it is not surprising that the most appropriate pre-legal course lies in the liberal-arts program. There is no conflict of objectives; indeed, the mental accomplishments outlined above are in the tradition of liberal education. The task of the pre-law student is to achieve them, and Hampden-Sydney College provides this opportunity.

In consultation with his faculty adviser, the student should select specific subjects in the light of his educational background and interests. In choosing his major he should consider political science, economics, and history. Perhaps an area of concentration in two of these fields would prove desirable. Whatever the major, some advanced work should be done in one of these fields.

Business

A student may enter private business or government immediately after graduation from college or after specialized study at the graduate level. A training program sponsored by the employer is normal. Public accounting calls for the baccalaureate degree and further training leading to a professional certificate. Evening classes, taken while holding a business position, facilitate this, and full-time graduate programs are available in some universities.

One of the purposes of the economics major is to furnish a suitable background for students planning to enter business, government administration, or accounting. Courses in political science, statistics, and mathematics of finance are recommended.

Secondary School Teaching

The liberal arts education provides an excellent preparation for the individual who wishes not merely to qualify for, but to excel in, teaching at the secondary level. A strong major in the field to be taught, with supporting courses in related areas, is the most important preparation.

The interscience major provides a broad science background, including about six semesters' concentration in one field, and constitutes a satisfactory preparation for teaching in the field of concentration. However, the student who aspires to be a master teacher should elect a full major in preparation for graduate study, as recommended by the National Science Teachers' Association and other professional groups.

Because Hampden-Sydney College does not offer any professional education courses, the student wishing to teach in public schools must complete at another institution any such courses required for state certification. The Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) program, offered at many universities, provides a means of taking these courses as part of a master's degree program.

* Outline of Work in the Several Departments

EACH course listed in this catalogue has a course number. At the right of this number will be found numerical designations in parentheses which indicate the course length and the credits carried by the course. There are three variations. For example: Bible 101-102 (0-6) is a continuing (two-semester) course and carries six semester hours of credit when the entire course has been completed. Biology 202 (4) meets for one semester only and carries four semester hours of credit. Bible 303-304 (3-3) comprises two semesters of work, and the student may take one or both semesters. Normally the courses with odd course numbers meet in the fall semester and those with even course numbers meet in the spring semester.

BIBLE

PROFESSOR MC RAE

PROFESSOR CLOWER

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR NORMENT

A concentration in Bible and philosophy must include eighteen semester hours in Bible and eighteen semester hours in philosophy.

Twelve semester hours in Bible are required for graduation. All students are required to take Bible 101-102 during their first year at Hampden-Sydney. Requirements above the first year level may be satisfied at any time during subsequent years.

BIBLE 101-102. (0-6)

Old Testament. The course affords opportunity for the student to acquire an understanding of Hebrew-Jewish life and culture within its ancient Near Eastern context, an appreciation of the literary media in which the record of this has been preserved, a comprehension of Old Testament history both factually and conceptually, and a knowledge of appropriate principles of Old Testament interpretation.

*The courses will generally be given as outlined, but every professor reserves the right to modify the content of his courses at will. The college reserves the right to eliminate courses whose enrollments are too small to justify them.

BIBLE 201-202. (0-6)

New Testament. A course designed to exhibit the significance of Jesus for the Church of the first century as well as for the man of faith today, and to delineate the salient features of the Christian community in this formative period of its history. Inductive and resultant acquisitions from this course should include an understanding of the nature of the New Testament, an awareness of how the New Testament's documents originated, and a knowledge of appropriate principles of New Testament interpretation.

BIBLE 303-304. (3-3)

World Religions. A comparative analysis of the major contemporary non-Christian religions of the world considered historically and ideologically in the light of basic affirmations of Christian thought. The work of the first semester is a prerequisite for the second. Prerequisite, Bible 202.

BIOLOGY

PROFESSOR J. C. THOMPSON

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR TURNEY

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR CRAWFORD

A student majoring in Biology must complete a minimum of 34 hours in the department and must include Biology 202, 311, 331-332, 411-412.

BIOLOGY 103-104. (0-8)

General Biology. Biological processes and principles dealing with the structural, functional, and molecular basis of life, the cell, genetics, growth and development, and evolution. Three lectures and one laboratory per week.

BIOLOGY 202. (4)

Advanced Botany. Morphology, physiology, systematics, and evolution of the plant kingdom. Three lectures and one laboratory per week.

BIOLOGY 211. (4)

Developmental Biology. Principles of embryology, differentiation of cells, tissues, and organs with emphasis on the origin of vertebrate systems. Three lectures and one laboratory per week.

BIOLOGY 222. (4)

Chordate Anatomy. Morphology and evolution of organs and organ systems in chordate animals. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite, Biology 211 or by permission of instructor.

BIOLOGY 230. (3)

Evolution. Historical and modern development of organic evolution. Three lectures per week.

BIOLOGY 241. (4)

Invertebrate Zoology. Morphology, ecology, systematics, and evolution of invertebrate animals. Three lectures and one laboratory per week.

BIOLOGY 311. (4)

Genetics. Principles of heredity and variation as developed from the morphological, physiological, and biochemical levels of gene action. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite, Chemistry 101-102.

BIOLOGY 320. (4)

Microbiology. Morphology, physiology, systematics, and ecology of microorganisms with major emphasis on the bacteria. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite, Chemistry 101-102.

BIOLOGY 331-332. (4-4)

Cell Biology. A structural and functional study of the cell, with emphasis in the first semester on biochemical and ultrastructural aspects of cell metabolism and in the second semester on major elements of cell physiology, including cell growth and division, differentiation, irritability, contractility, active transport and photosynthesis. Laboratory exercises include problems in viscometry, protein fingerprinting, histochemistry, enzyme isolation and purification, enzyme kinetics, electrophoresis, ion exchange chromatography, nerve-muscle physiology, differential centrifugation, manometry and spectrophotometry. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite or co-requisite, Chemistry 211-212. Prerequisite for second semester: Biology 331 or consent of the instructor.

BIOLOGY 411-412. (0-1)

Senior Seminar. Review and discussion of current biological literature.

CHEMISTRY

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS SMITH, PORTERFIELD

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BURNS,

MR. BASS

The requirements for a major in chemistry are Chemistry 101-102, 204, 211-212, 313, 314, 315, 316, 403, 411, 412, 416.

CHEMISTRY 101-102. (0-8)

Principles of Chemistry. A study of the basic concepts of physical and inorganic chemistry. Laboratory work consists in part of a series of open-ended projects which require independent use of library and laboratory facilities and in part of volumetric and gravimetric analysis. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Breakage deposit, $10.00.

CHEMISTRY 204. (1)

Organic Laboratory Problems. The student is required to adapt modern synthetic methods to the macro scale preparation of some previously-unreported compounds. Ultimate purification of the compounds is accomplished by advanced techniques such as preparative gas-liquid chromatography and zone refining. One laboratory per week. Corequisite, Chemistry 212.

CHEMISTRY 211-212. (0-8)

Organic Chemistry. An integrated treatment of aliphatic and aromatic compounds of carbon with emphasis on reaction mechanisms, stereochemistry, and spectroscopy. The laboratory is devoted partly to open-ended multi-step synthesis projects and partly to qualitative analysis of organic mixtures, including the use of chromatography and spectroscopy. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Breakage deposit, $15.00. Prerequisite, Chemistry 101-102.

CHEMISTRY 313. (3)

Physical Chemistry I: Thermodynamics and Kinetics. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Prerequisites, Chemistry 204, 211-212, Mathematics 201-202, Physics 101-102.

CHEMISTRY 314. (3)

Physical Chemistry II: Electrochemistry and States of Matter. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Prerequisites as for Chemistry 313. Corequisite, Chemistry 316.

CHEMISTRY 315-316. (2-2)

Physical Chemistry Laboratory. Accurate determination of selected physical and chemical properties of compounds synthesized in Chemistry 204. The student must select and adapt the best experimental approach by creative use of library materials and laboratory instruments and materials. Two laboratories per week. Breakage deposit, $10.00. Corequisites, Chemistry 313, 314.

CHEMISTRY 403. (3)

Physical Chemistry III: Atomic and Molecular Structure. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Prerequisites, Chemistry 211-212, Mathematics 301-302, Physics 101-102.

CHEMISTRY 411-412. (0-5)

Instrumental Analysis. Use of advanced instrumentation in qualitative and quantitative analysis and in molecular structure determination. Three lectures and one laboratory per week, first semester; one laboratory per week, second semester. Breakage deposit $10.00. Prerequisites, Chemistry 313-314, Physics 210.

CHEMISTRY 418. (0-3)

Chemical Instrumentation. Theory and practice of advanced techniques, using recent literature on a tutorial basis. Prerequisite, Chemistry 411-412.

CHEMISTRY 414. (3)

Advanced Organic. Selected topics from the following areas: reaction mechanisms, conformational analysis, structure elucidation, advanced syntheses, and structure versus reactivity. Three lectures per week. Prerequisites, Chemistry 313-314, or Chemistry 313 and consent of instructor.

CHEMISTRY 416. (3)

Advanced Inorganic. Continuation of structural calculations from Chemistry 403, and other theoretical aspects. Descriptive material on collateral reading basis. Three lectures per week. Prerequisite, Chemistry 403.

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH PARTICIPATION

At any time after the first semester of the freshman year, a qualified student may be invited to participate in research supervised by a staff member. Entrance into this program will allow those students contemplating graduate work to receive up to three and one-half years of experience. Juniors and Seniors participating in this program may register for Chemistry Honors, with the approval of the Department, and receive academic credit. This program is currently supported by a National Science Foundation grant in excess of $20,000 for 1967-1970.

ECONOMICS

PROFESSOR WHITTAKER

MESSRS. HENNEMAN, MATTIS

The requirements for a major in economics include all four courses offered by the department. Students planning a major or concentration in economics should take Economics 201-202 in their sophomore year.

For a concentration in economics and political science the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

For a concentration in economics and history the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

ECONOMICS 201-202. (0-6)

Principles of Economics. This course is designed to develop an understanding of the basic principles and problems involved in satisfying human wants from limited resources. It deals with the availability and best use of resources, cost of production, demand, prices, wages, interest, taxes, money, banking, income, business organization, the growth and development of the national economy, and international economic relations.

ECONOMICS 301-302. (3-3)

Applied Economics. A field of application of economics will be studied each semester, with choices depending on degrees of current interest and usefulness. Prerequisite, Economics 201-202.

ECONOMICS 303. (3)

Economic Development of Western Civilization. Features of historical economic development of interest to Americans are studied, from the ancient world to the present day. While considering particularly the West, the class looks also at the non-West and at parallels and differences between the two. Prerequisite, Economics 201-202.

ECONOMICS 304. (3)

History of Economic Thought. This class studies changing economic attitudes and theories from the beginning of history to our own time, as related to other areas of social thought and to changes in economic organization. Aspects of contemporary interest are emphasized. Prerequisite, Economics 201-202 and Economics 303.

ECONOMICS 311-312. (1-1)

Practical Aspects of Business Management. Discussion of banking and commercial terminology, employment and training of college men by corporate employers, and the role of the manager in business. Study of current developments reported in Government publications and the daily press. Written and oral reports on assignments.

ECONOMICS 401. (3)

Economic Theory and Method. Recent and contemporary theories and procedures are surveyed, so as to provide an appreciation of differing approaches and of methods of analysis in present-day use. Prerequisite, Economics 201-202. Open only to seniors who are economics majors.

ECONOMICS 402. (3)

Independent Studies in Economics. Each student will investigate a special topic or area, which may be in some field not previously studied or in one in which previous study can be carried further on a particular part or problem. A paper is to be presented, describing some features of the work done and embodying the conclusions reached. In addition to his own study, the student will be expected to criticize that of another. Individual work is supplemented by group discussion. Prerequisite, Economics 401. Open only to seniors who are economics majors.

ENGLISH

PROFESSOR ROPP, PROFESSOR CRAWLEY
PROFESSOR SIMPSON
MR. HOFFMAN

A student planning a major in English must be a candidate for the B.A. degree. Course work must include eighteen hours of English above the degree requirement. History 203-204 is recommended as an elective.

Courses above the 200 level are open only to juniors and seniors.

IN the department of English two objects are kept steadily in view:

ENGLISH 101-102. (0-6)

Composition and Rhetoric. The work of this class is devoted to the study and practical application of the principles of composition and rhetoric. Frequent exercises and themes are assigned, parallel reading is required, and training is given in the art of interpreting literary thought and expression. Some study is also given to the theory and practice of spoken English.

Any entering students who exhibit weakness in the principles of English composition are required to take drill work supplementary to the English 101-102 course.

ENGLISH 201-202. (0-6)

The History of English Literature. A survey course in the development of English literature from the beginning to the modern period. Emphasis is placed upon readings from the major writers, and upon the study of representative selections in class. Parallel reading is required. The aim of the course is first-hand acquaintance with the best in English literature.

ENGLISH 301-302. (0-6)

Shakespeare. All the principal plays of the dramatist are read. The course includes a careful study of Shakespeare as a poet and dramatic artist, and a study of the development of the Elizabethan theater.

ENGLISH 303-304. (0-6)

American Literature. A study of the growth of American literature, with emphasis upon the political, social, and economic forces that have strongly influenced the literary development of the nation.

ENGLISH 305. (3)

History of the English Language. A study of the growth and development of the English language. Not offered in 1967-68.

ENGLISH 306. (3)

English Literature of the Restoration and the Eighteenth Century. A study of English Literature from 1660 to 1798. Emphasis is placed on the major writers of the period. Not offered in 1967-68.

ENGLISH 307-308. (0-6)

English Literature since 1832. A study of the poets and essayists from 1832 to the present. Stress is placed on the change from the Victorian world to the modern.

ENGLISH 309. (3)

Contemporary British and American Poetry. This course is a critical study of the major poets in British and American poetry of the twentieth century.

ENGLISH 311. (3)

The English Romantics. A study of the major Romantic poets, together with a survey of other Romantic and Pre-Romantic writers.

ENGLISH 401-402. (0-6)

English Drama. First semester. English drama, exclusive of the Shakespearean, is studied in its growth from the medieval to the modern period. Modern Drama. Second semester. A study of the growth of modern drama in Europe and America from 1880 to the present time. The development of the theatre in this period is carefully traced.

ENGLISH 403-404. (3-3)

English Novel. First semester. A survey of the beginnings of the novel in England and a study of the major novelists of the nineteenth century. Second semester. The contemporary novel in England and America.

ENGLISH 405. (3)

Early English Literature in Translation. A study of English Literature from the Beginning to 1400, exclusive of Chaucer. Not offered in 1967-68.

ENGLISH 406. (3)

Chaucer. A detailed study of The Canterbury Tales in Middle English. The other main works of Chaucer will be read in translation.

ENGLISH 407. (3)

Milton. Milton's poetry, with emphasis upon Paradise Lost, Paradise Regained, and Samson Agonistes as a trilogy. His prose is considered in so far as it contributes to an understanding of his thought and poetic achievement. Not offered in 1967-68.

ENGLISH 408. (3)

Spenser. Most of Spenser's poetry is read, with emphasis upon The Shepheardes Calendar and The Faerie Queene. A careful study is made of epic tradition and of the milieu to which The Faerie Queene belongs. Not offered in 1967-68.

ENGLISH 410. (3)

Literary Criticism. Fundamental critical theories from Aristotle to the present are studied; special attention is given to modern trends in criticism. Students are introduced to the practice of critical techniques. Not offered in 1967-68.

ENGLISH 419-420. (3-3)

Creative Writing. Emphasis is on writing short stories, although work may be done on verse, plays, and the novel. Open to upperclassmen, with the consent of the instructor. Elective credit only.

FINE ARTS

PROFESSOR G. H. THOMPSON

FINE ARTS 301-302. (3-3)

The History of the Fine Arts. This course is designed to promote the enjoyment of the fine arts—painting, architecture, and sculpture. A knowledge of ancient, medieval, and modern history and of ancient and modern languages is useful as background information but is not a requirement. The course includes a spring trip to the Washington galleries. Open to upperclassmen with the consent of the professor. Not offered in 1967-68.

FINE ARTS 303-304. (3-3)

Music Appreciation. Primarily a listening course. The aim is an increased familiarity with the world's great music, the major musical forms, and the outstanding composers. No special musical knowledge or ability is required. Open to upperclassmen with the consent of the professor. The work of the first semester is a prerequisite for the second.

FRENCH

PROFESSOR HOLBROOK

PROFESSOR LEDUC

The requirement for a major in French is 18 semester hours in French courses numbered 301 and higher. The student is expected to take at least one French course each semester of his last two years.

For a concentration in two modern languages the student must complete in each language a one-year course at the 400 level.

FRENCH 101-102. (0-6)

Introduction to French. Grammar, reading, and drill in pronunciation. Credit toward satisfaction of the language requirement only if followed by French 201-202.

FRENCH 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate French. A balanced course with emphasis on reading. Prerequisite, French 101-102 or two years of high-school French.

FRENCH 301-302. (0-6)

Modern French Literature. A survey of French literature from the French Revolution to the present; representative readings from major works. A considerable amount of outside reading is done in this course. Prerequisite, French 201-202, or its equivalent.

FRENCH 303-304. (3-3)

French Literature of the Twentieth Century. A study of the outstanding authors and literary genres of the period. Prerequisite, French 301-302.

FRENCH 401-402. (3-3)

French Civilization. A study in French of the history, geography, art, architecture, customs, manners, and government of France. French will be used regularly in the recitations. Sources studied include literary works, historical accounts, factual compilations, and current periodicals. Prerequisite, French 301-302 or permission of the instructor.

FRENCH 403-404. (3-3)

French Literature Before the Revolution. First semester: from the earliest period to 1715. Second semester: the 18th century. Prerequisite, French 301-302.

GERMAN

PROFESSOR FIRENZE

PROFESSOR LEDUC

The requirements for a major in German are German 201-202, 301-302, 403-404, and 405-406.

For a concentration in two modern languages the student must complete in each language a one-year course at the 400 level.

GERMAN 101-102. (0-6)

Introduction to German. A thorough familiarity with the language is developed by constant grammatical drill, composition, and translation. A reasonable amount of simple narrative prose is read. Credit toward satisfaction of the language requirement only if followed by German 201-202.

GERMAN 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate German. The transition to more difficult reading material is effected as easily and yet as rapidly as possible. A systematic review of grammar is made. Prerequisite, German 101-102 or two years of high school German.

GERMAN 301-302. (0-6)

Survey of German Literature. The history of German literature from the beginnings to our day, with class reading of selected poetry, prose and drama of the 19th and 20th centuries. Term reports on extensive parallel reading. Prerequisite, German 201-202, or its equivalent.

GERMAN 403-404. (0-6)

German Literature of the Nineteenth Century Exclusive of Drama. The main currents of German literature beginning with romanticism through realism and naturalism; and interpretation of representative texts. Two term papers in German are required.

GERMAN 405-406. (0-6)

German Drama of the Nineteenth Century. The study of outstanding German dramatists of the nineteenth century. Considerable outside reading and reports in German.

GREEK

PROFESSOR ODOM

The requirements for a major in Greek are satisfied by the successful completion of twelve semester hours in Greek language courses above the 200-level, plus Greek History 321 and Roman History 322.

For a concentration in Latin and Greek, the student must complete six semester hours above the 200-level in both Latin and Greek, plus Greek History 321 and Roman History 322.

In addition, all majors are encouraged to take Fine Arts 301.

GREEK 101-102. (0-6)

Elementary Greek. This course is an introduction to the Greek language, through the study of forms, vocabulary, and syntax. During the last part of the year selections of simple Greek prose will be read.

GREEK 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate Greek. Selections will be read from the works of Greek prose writers. There will be a continuing review of grammar.

GREEK 301. (3)

The Greek New Testament. Selections drawn largely from Luke and Acts will be read in the original Greek. Some time will be devoted to lectures, collateral readings, and reports on the principles of palaeography and textual criticism.

GREEK 302. (3)

Greek Drama. Representative plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, or Aristophanes will be read and discussed as dramatic pieces, and in their relation to the origin of tragedy and comedy and the development of the theatre.

GREEK 303-304. (3-3)

Greek Historians. Selections from Herodotus' History of the Persian Wars or Thucydides' History of the Peloponnesian War. Parallel work will focus on the beginnings of historical writing and the principles of historiography.

GREEK 305-308. (3 each semester)

Advanced Greek. The reading and discussion of selected works of Greek literature, chosen according to the needs of the class. Among authors that may be selected are Homer, Plato, Plutarch, Demosthenes, and the Athenian orators.

The courses listed above at the 300-level have as prerequisite Greek 201-202. Of these, only as many will be taught in any one session as the demand justifies.

GREEK HISTORY 321. (3)

A historical survey of the cultural, political, economic, and social aspects of Greek civilization to the time of the Roman Empire. This course does not assume a knowledge of Greek and will not satisfy any of the language requirements. It carries credit toward a History major. (See also Roman History 322.)

HISTORY

PROFESSOR BLISS

PROFESSOR COYNER

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR LAYTON

The requirements for a major in history include History 101-102 and twenty-four semester hours in advanced courses.

For a concentration in history and political science the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

For a concentration in history and economics, the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

Greek History 321 and Roman History 322, offered by the Departments of Greek and Latin, are accepted as six hours of the requirement for a major.

HISTORY 101-102. (3-3)

Modern Europe. The study of Western Civilization from the Renaissance and Reformation to the present century with emphasis on those movements and institutions which have determined the form of the contemporary Western World. This course should be taken in the freshman or sophomore year. Required of all students.

HISTORY 201-202. (3-3)

United States. The first semester is confined to the period from the establishment of the colonies to the close of the Civil War with emphasis on the period following 1763, especially the years 1830-1860. The second semester begins with Reconstruction and ends with the New Deal with emphasis on the rise of Progressivism.

HISTORY 203-204. (3-3)

England and the British Empire. The origins and growth of English institutions and their spread to other parts of the world. Particular attention is devoted to the English contribution in government and law, to Britain's relations with the rest of the world, and to the rise and decline of her empire. The first semester ends with the overthrow of James II. Prerequisite, History 101-102.

HISTORY 205. (3)

Colonial America. After a consideration of the motives of English colonization and the actual establishment of the colonies, particular attention is given to the factors shaping the economic, social and political institutions of colonial America and to the origins of the Revolution. This course will not be offered in 1967-1968.

HISTORY 302. (3)

Medieval Civilization. From the decline of the Roman Empire to the beginnings of the Modern Age. Emphasis is placed on the rise of feudal institutions, the rise of Christianity and the medieval church, the conflict between papal and secular governments, and the beginnings of nationality. This course will not be offered in 1967-1968.

HISTORY 303-304. (3-3)

Civil War and Reconstruction. The United States from the Missouri Compromise to the Compromise of 1877. The first semester covers the awakening of American Nationalism, Jacksonian Democracy, Manifest Destiny, and the origins of the Civil War. The War and Reconstruction comprise the second semester.

HISTORY 306. (3)

Chinese History and Civilization. A study of significant elements in Chinese civilization in the context of China's history from the beginning to the present.

HISTORY 311-312. (3-3)

Russian History. The first semester covers the period from the founding of Kievan Russia in the ninth century to the end of Alexander I's reign in 1825. The second semester carries the story to the present.

HISTORY 401-402. (3-3)

The Twentieth Century World. The first semester is a study of the international scene between 1918 and 1945 with emphasis on conditions leading to the outbreak of World War II. The second semester is essentially concerned with the origins of tension between East and West blocs with particular emphasis on developments in the Near East, Africa, and Asia.

HISTORY 403-404. (3-3)

Modern America. The United States since the end of Reconstruction. The triumph of the industrial system, the Progressive movement, and World War I are covered in the first semester; the Twenties, the New Deal, World War II and its aftermath are major topics of the second. Admission by consent of the instructor.

HISTORY 405-406. (3-3)

Europe from 1789 to 1919. A study of Europe from the beginning of the French Revolution to the Treaty of Versailles, with the year 1870 as the demarcation point between the work of the two semesters. Along with political and diplomatic history, the course examines the cultural and intellectual currents in nineteenth century Europe. This course alternates with History 407-408. It will not be offered in 1967-1968.

HISTORY 407-408. (3-3)

Renaissance and Reformation. The semester on the Renaissance examines the nature of the Renaissance and its manifestations in the various European countries. That on the Reformation considers the origins of Luther's revolt against the Catholic Church, the course of the Reformation with special attention to its different forms from country to country, and the development of the Counter-Reformation.

HUMANITIES

MEMBERS OF VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS

Beginning with the class entering in September 1967, this two-year program will be required of all students. Its aim is to provide the comprehensive view of Western culture implicit in a liberal education and to counteract the tendency toward the fragmentation of knowledge in strictly departmentalized studies. In both years history, philosophy, literature, art, and political and economic thought will be treated.

First year: study of primitive man, Old Testament, Greek and Roman civilization, New Testament, the Middle Ages. Ten semester hours.

Second year: Renaissance and Reformation, European and American civilization from the 17th century to the present. Ten semester hours.

In each year there will be lectures by a team of professors and discussions in small groups.

INTERSCIENCE

FACULTY OF THE DEPARTMENTS OF BIOLOGY, CHEMISTRY, MATHEMATICS, AND PHYSICS

To fulfill the requirements of the Interscience major a student must:

- (1) Complete the B.S. requirements.
- (2) Complete a specific amount of work beyond the B.S. requirements in one of the following departments:
 - (a) Biology—15 semester hours.
 - (b) Chemistry—14 semester hours, including at least 3 semester hours of physical chemistry.
 - (c) Mathematics—12 semester hours, including Mathematics 301-302 and 6 semester hours of other courses at the 300 or 400 level.
 - (d) Physics—12 semester hours and Mathematics 301-302.
- (3) Complete sufficient additional courses in any of the four departments to make a total of 28 semester hours beyond the B.S. requirements.
- (4) File his approved program with the registrar before the end of his junior year.

LATIN

PROFESSOR G. H. THOMPSON
PROFESSOR ODOM
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ORTNER
MR. THOMAS

The requirements for a major in Latin are satisfied by the successful completion of twelve semester hours above the 200-level, together with Greek History 321 and Roman History 322. In addition, Fine Arts 301 is strongly recommended.

For a concentration in Latin and Greek, the student must complete six semester hours above the 200-level in both Latin and Greek, together with Greek History 321 and Roman History 322. In addition, Fine Arts 301 is strongly recommended.

LATIN 101-102. (0-6)

Beginning Latin. This course is designed for students with no previous Latin. Its content is basically that of Latin 103-104, but meetings will be held five times a week instead of three for additional instruction in Latin fundamentals.

LATIN 103-104. (0-6)

Readings in Roman History or Classical Mythology. This course will consist of a review of Latin fundamentals and the reading of easy prose comprising a survey of Roman history or classical mythology. Prerequisite, two years of secondary school Latin.

LATIN 201-202. (0-6)

First semester: Ovid. Selections from Ovid's Ars Amatoria will be read. In addition, a part of each week's work will be devoted to a study of the Latin element in the English language, with a view to enlarging both the English and the Latin vocabulary of the student.

Second Semester: Vergil. Selections from the Aeneid. The etymological study will be continued. Prerequisite, three entrance units in Latin or Latin 101-102 or Latin 103-104.

LATIN 301-302 (3-3)

Latin Literature of the Republic. Reading matter will be chosen from the comedies of Plautus and Terence, the essays of Cicero, the De Rerum Natura of Lucretius, and the poems of Catullus. Some time will be devoted also to the study of the Greek element in the English language. This course alternates with Latin 303-304 and will be given in 1967-68. Prerequisite, four entrance units in Latin or Latin 201-202.

LATIN 303-304. (3-3)

Latin Literature of the Empire. This course will follow the plan of Latin 301-302, but the reading matter will come from Livy, Horace, Seneca, Petronius, Martial, Tacitus, and Pliny. This course alternates with Latin 301-302 and will not be given in 1967-68. Prerequisite, four entrance units of Latin or Latin 201-202.

ROMAN HISTORY 322. (3)

The rise and decline of Rome as a world-state. Its importance to Western civilization. Its contributions in fields of government, law, literature, art, architecture. The beginnings of the Christian Church.

This course does not assume a knowledge of Latin and will not satisfy any of the language requirements. It carries credit toward a History major. See also Greek History 321.

The following courses will be given only in case of sufficient demand. Prerequisite, Latin 301-302 or Latin 303-304.

LATIN 401-408. (3 each semester)

Advanced readings in Latin literature. Among authors that may be selected are Lucretius, Tacitus, Livy, Ovid, Horace, Seneca.

LATIN 411. (3)

Latin composition and grammar.

LATIN 412. (3)

Latin palaeography.

MATHEMATICS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR SELDEN

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MAYO

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR ESPIGH, MR. FRANKE

VISITING PROFESSOR MAC QUEEN

The requirements for a major in mathematics are a minimum of 30 semester hours in mathematics including Mathematics 303-304, 305-306, and 403-404.

MATHEMATICS 103-104. (3-3)

Fundamental Mathematics. Algebraic and transcendental functions, inequalities, matrices, sequences, series, probability, and sets. Math 103 is prerequisite for Math 104.

MATHEMATICS 201-202. (0-6)

Analytic Geometry and Calculus. Plane analytic geometry, differential and integral calculus. Prerequisite, Math 103-104, or equivalent.

MATHEMATICS 203. (3)

Statistics. Elementary mathematical statistics and probability. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104.

MATHEMATICS 204. (3)

Mathematics for Business Management. Modern mathematical concepts and structures as applied to business management. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104.

MATHEMATICS 205. (3)

Computer Programming. An introduction to the techniques of computer programming. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202 or the consent of the department. Two lectures and one laboratory per week.

MATHEMATICS 301. (3)

Calculus. Infinite series, hyperbolic functions, solid analytic geometry, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, and vectors. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202.

MATHEMATICS 302. (3)

Differential Equations. Theory and applications of solutions of ordinary differential equations. Prerequisite, Mathematics 301.

MATHEMATICS 303. (3)

Modern Algebra. Sets, rings, integral domains, number systems, fields, and groups. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202. (Offered in 1967-68 and alternate years thereafter).

MATHEMATICS 304. (3)

Linear Algebra. Linear systems, functionals, transformations, vectors, and vector spaces. Prerequisite, Mathematics 303. (Offered in 1967-68 and alternate years thereafter).

MATHEMATICS 305-306. (3-3)

Geometry. Euclidean geometry from an advanced viewpoint and an introduction to non-Euclidean geometrics. Prerequisite, Mathematics 201-202. Mathematics 305 is prerequisite for Mathematics 306. (Offered in 1968-69 and alternate years thereafter).

MATHEMATICS 403-404. (3-3)

Analysis. Number systems, limits, functions, point sets, partial derivatives, transformations and mappings, vectors and vector fields, line and surface integrals. Prerequisite, Mathematics 301-302. Mathematics 403 is prerequisite for Mathematics 404.

MATHEMATICS 405-406. (3-3)

Topics in Advanced Mathematics. Partial differential equations, complex functions, Fourier analysis, and numerical methods. Admission by consent of the department.

MATHEMATICS 407-408. (3-3)

Mathematics Seminar. A seminar course of selected topics in mathematics. Admission by consent of the department.

MUSIC (See Fine Arts)PHILOSOPHY

PROFESSOR ALLAN

MR. MORRIS

The requirements for a major in philosophy are Philosophy 301-302, Philosophy 303-304 and an additional twelve hours in philosophy.

PHILOSOPHY 201. (3)

Logic. Deductive and inductive reasoning; the fallacies; introduction to symbolic logic.

PHILOSOPHY 301-302. (3-3)

History of Philosophy. The leading systems of Western thought from the early Greeks to the present with emphasis upon the great philosophers such as Plato, Aristotle, Aquinas, Kant, Hegel, Kierkegaard and Whitehead; the relevance of their thought to social, political, and religious movements. Open to qualified sophomores.

PHILOSOPHY 303. (3)

An Introduction to Metaphysics. The nature of truth; the relationship of mind and body; space, time and cosmology; freedom of the will; the existence of God; the meaning of history.

PHILOSOPHY 304. (3)

Ethics. The principal ethical theories of the right and the good; the problem of ethical decision and the scale of values.

PHILOSOPHY 306. (3)

Philosophy of Science. The logic of scientific method; the clarification of such concepts as cause, law, relativity theory, probability, mechanism and teleology.

PHILOSOPHY 401. (3)

Contemporary Philosophy. A survey of idealism, realism, pragmatism, existentialism and analytical philosophy in the twentieth century. Conducted as a seminar. Prerequisite, six semester hours of Philosophy.

PHILOSOPHY 402. (3)

The Existentialists: Kierkegaard to Marcel. Conducted as a seminar. Prerequisite, three semester hours of Philosophy.

PHILOSOPHY 403. (3)

Contemporary Christian Philosophies. A study of such thinkers as William Temple, E. S. Brightman, Max Scheler and Gabriel Marcel. Prerequisite, three semester hours in Philosophy.

PHILOSOPHY 404. (3)

Contemporary Ethical Systems. A study of such moral philosophers as G. E. Moore, W. D. Ross, R. M. Hare and Reinhold Niebuhr. Prerequisite, three semester hours in Philosophy. Given in alternate years with Philosophy 403.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MR. BURRELL

PHYSICAL EDUCATION 301-302. (2-2)

The purpose of this course is to give training in the coaching of football, basketball, baseball, wrestling, and track to those men who expect to coach after graduation. Men who expect to teach in secondary schools will find the course valuable, as oftentimes they are called on to coach one or more sports. The course will require two scheduled lecture periods per week and attendance at the varsity practice of the season's active sport. Training rules, schedule making, treatment of minor injuries, and the fundamentals of the different sports will be discussed during the year. Elective only for juniors and seniors.

PHYSICS

PROFESSOR GILMER, PROFESSOR JOYNER

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MAYO, MR. HENDERSON, MR. LAWRENCE

To satisfy the requirements for a major in physics the student must complete a minimum of 34 semester hours in the department including Advanced Laboratory. Students planning to continue in physics should take all courses offered by the department. Physics 101-102 is prerequisite for all courses at or above the 200 level.

PHYSICS 101-102. (4-4)

General Physics. A survey of classical and modern physics at the elementary level. Prerequisite, Mathematics 103-104 or its equivalent. Physics 101 is prerequisite to Physics 102.

PHYSICS 103-104. (1-1)

Problems in General Physics. Extensive work in the solving of elementary classical physics problems. This course is designed for the student who intends to continue in the physical sciences, engineering, or mathematics. Admission by consent of the instructor.

PHYSICS 209. (5)

Modern Physics I. An introduction to special relativity and quantum theory followed by a brief survey of basic atomic and nuclear phenomena. The laboratory is designed to demonstrate the experimental basis of our knowledge of atomic structure. Prerequisite, Mathematics 202.

PHYSICS 210. (2)

Electronics. Common information transfer techniques are introduced through lectures and laboratory work. Prerequisite, Mathematics 202.

PHYSICS 212. (3)

Mechanics I. Particle dynamics is treated with particular emphasis on harmonic motion, motion in a central force field, and the two body problem. The concepts and notation of generalized mechanics are introduced. Prerequisite, Mathematics 301 or enrollment therein.

PHYSICS 303. (3)

Optics and Wave Motion. After a brief survey of geometrical optics, this course treats the properties of wave motion which are common to the entire electromagnetic spectrum, including reflection, refraction, interference, diffraction, and polarization. Prerequisite, Mathematics 302, Physics 305 or enrollment therein.

PHYSICS 304. (3)

Kinetic Theory and Thermodynamics. An introduction to kinetic theory and thermodynamics, with a brief survey of statistical mechanics. Current ideas about the structure of matter are emphasized. Prerequisites, Physics 102, Mathematics 302.

PHYSICS 305-306. (2-2)

Advanced Laboratory. A laboratory course designed to acquaint the student with the instruments used in basic physical measurements and with the design of experiments. Open to students taking advanced courses in physics.

PHYSICS 401-402. (3-3)

Electricity and Magnetism. A study of electrostatics, electrodynamics, dielectrics, magnetism, and elementary field theory. Advanced mathematical techniques are used throughout. Prerequisite, Mathematics 302, Physics 305 or enrollment therein.

PHYSICS 404. (3)

Introduction to Theoretical Physics. The physical foundations for the quantum theory are studied. Schroedinger's equation is introduced and used to analyze elementary problems in nuclear and solid state physics. Prerequisite, Mathematics 406 or enrollment therein.

PHYSICS 405. (3)

Mechanics II. A treatment of the mechanics of particles including an introduction to fluid mechanics, the motion of rigid bodies, and the theory of small vibrations. Prerequisite, Physics 212, and Mathematics 405 or enrollment therein.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR HUBARD

The requirements for a major in political science include all courses offered by the department.

For a concentration in political science and economics the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

For a concentration in political science and history the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 201-202. (0-6)

The American System of Government. A study of the theory and practice of national, state, and local government in the United States. The constitutional basis of the federal system, the power of the national government, the position of the states and their subdivisions, and the scope of civil rights are studied, with frequent reference to leading Supreme Court decisions and other primary sources. After the structure of the federal government and its broadening area of functions and services have been considered, the course concludes with an examination of state and local government. Not open to freshmen.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 301. (3)

Comparative Government. With the United States as a basis of reference, a critical study is made of the leading political systems of Europe and their significance for the problem of constitutional order. Particular emphasis is placed on Great Britain and the Commonwealth, France, Germany, and the U.S.S.R. This course is highly recommended for all students concentrating in Political Science-History or Political Science-Economics. Offered each fall, this course is followed by Political Science 302 to provide a full year of study. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 302. (3)

Political Theory. This study includes an analysis of the main currents of western political thought. Use is made of the original writings of men who have had the greatest influence in shaping modern ideas and institutions. This course is highly recommended for all students concentrating in Political Science-History or Political Science-Economics. Regularly offered in the second semester, this course follows Political Science 301, to provide a full year of study. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 401-402. (0-6)

American Constitutional Law. In the light of changing political, social, and economic problems in the United States, this study follows the development of the American Constitution through judicial interpretation. The primary basis of study will be Supreme Court cases showing (a) the extent of national power, (b) the constitutional limitations upon state governmental action, (c) the protection of individual liberties, and (d) the nature of the judicial process in the American system of government. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 403-404. (0-6)

Introductory Survey of Law. The course is designed to give students (1) a practical and cultural appreciation of the place of law as an institution in modern society, (2) an insight into those principles of law which underlie our free economy and serve as guides to business, and (3) an understanding of the increasing role of government in the economy. Prerequisite, Political Science 201-202 or Economics 201-202.

PSYCHOLOGY

PROFESSOR ALLAN

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR ORTNER

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS MASON, DE WOLFE

The requirements for a major in psychology are Psychology 211, 311, and an additional twenty-one semester hours in the department.

For a concentration in psychology and philosophy the student must complete eighteen semester hours in each field.

Psychology 211 is a prerequisite to all other psychology courses.

PSYCHOLOGY 211. (4)

General Psychology. A survey of the most essential facts and principles of psychology, along with the methods and techniques required in laboratory procedures. Not open to first-semester freshmen. Three hours of lecture, two hours of laboratory per week.

PSYCHOLOGY 303. (3)

Social Psychology. The analysis of social behavior, group interaction and leadership; propaganda and public opinion; crowd behavior; social conflict.

PSYCHOLOGY 304. (3)

Psychology of Personality. The development of personality; methods of measuring and judging personality; the organization of personality; types and traits of personality.

PSYCHOLOGY 305. (3)

Abnormal Psychology. Description of abnormal behavior; introduction to psychopathology.

PSYCHOLOGY 307. (3)

Developmental Psychology. An assessment of the areas of development in childhood and adolescence with special emphasis upon case materials in development and maturation, and factors associated with normal and abnormal developmental patterns.

PSYCHOLOGY 311. (3)

Psychological Tests and Measurements. A laboratory course in various types of mental and personality tests, rating scales, and other devices used in vocational guidance, personnel selection, and clinical testing. Open to those who are taking or who have taken Psychology 211. Two hours lecture. Two and one-half hours laboratory work.

PSYCHOLOGY 312. (3)

Industrial Psychology. Employment psychology; the psychologist's role in training in industry and business; man's relationship to his work environment, to machines, and to his fellow-workers; consumer psychology; the psychological aspects of international relations; the psychologist in industrial negotiations. Prerequisite, ten semester hours of Psychology, which must include Psychology 211 and 311.

PSYCHOLOGY 402. (3)

Introduction to Counseling. An introductory course dealing with the methods and techniques of counseling, and representative approaches to counseling theories, and professional problems in counseling. Prerequisite, Psychology 305 and 311, or the consent of the instructor.

PSYCHOLOGY 403. (3)

Experimental Psychology. The application of experimental method to selected problems in sensation, perception, learning, motivation, etc. Emphasis will be given to theory formulation, experimental design, and research techniques. Prerequisite, seven semester hours of psychology. Open by consent of instructor.

PSYCHOLOGY 404. (3)

Systems of Psychology. Structuralism, functionalism, behaviorism, gestalt psychology, psycho-analysis, personalism, and other schools of psychology. Prerequisite, ten semester hours of psychology.

PSYCHOLOGY 405. (3)

Psychology of Learning. A study of different theories of learning with special emphasis upon experimental findings and application of learning theories to practical problems in human learning. Prerequisite, Psychology 403.

PSYCHOLOGY 406. (3)

Physiological Psychology. Survey of physiological aspects of behavior with special emphasis on the brain and central nervous system. Prerequisites, ten hours of psychology.

SPANISH

PROFESSOR WHITTED

The requirements for a major in Spanish are Spanish 201-202, 301-302, 401-402, and 403-404. A student permitted to enter Spanish 301-302 as his first college course will be exempted from the requirement of Spanish 201-202.

For a concentration in two modern languages the student must complete in each language a one-year course at the 400 level.

SPANISH 101-102. (0-6)

Introduction to Spanish. The elements of grammar, composition, and pronunciation. Credit toward satisfaction of the language requirement only if followed by Spanish 201-202.

SPANISH 201-202. (0-6)

Intermediate Spanish. A review of grammar will be covered. Oral practice based on readings from Spanish and Spanish-American writers will be emphasized. Prerequisite, Spanish 101-102 or two years of high school Spanish.

SPANISH 301-302. (3-3)

Nineteenth and Twentieth Century Literature. A survey course of Spanish literature from the Romantic Period in the Nineteenth Century to the present time. There will be outside readings. Prerequisite, Spanish 201-202, or its equivalent.

SPANISH 401-402. (3-3)

Latin-American Literature. The study of Spanish-American literature and civilization from the colonial period to the present day. A part of the course will be devoted to advanced grammar and conversation. Alternates with Spanish 403-404. Prerequisite, Spanish 301-302 or permission of the instructor.

SPANISH 403-404. (3-3)

Spanish Literature before 1700. This course will survey the development of Spanish literature from its beginning to the eighteenth century. However, most of the work in class will be limited to the study of the Spanish Epic, the Picaresque Novel, Cervantes, and the Siglo de Oro drama. Outside readings will be required. Alternates with Spanish 401-402. Will not be given in 1967-68. Prerequisite, Spanish 301-302.

Interior view of the Eggleston Library mental health. These men are encouraged to seek help from the counseling service which is staffed by competent psychologists. Offices of the service are in the Presbyterian Guidance Center in Morton Hall.

FACULTY ADVISERS

Advisers are assigned to incoming freshmen during the summer preceding matriculation. The selection of adviser is made carefully to reflect educational goals of the student as well as his vocational and avocational interests. Registration and academic progress are among the important matters of concern to the advisers. Each student is urged to consult with his adviser periodically.

In the spring of the sophomore year, each student must declare his major, or area of concentration, and a professor in this field will be assigned as the new adviser. During the period of spring registration the new adviser will counsel with the student and plan an effective program for the junior and senior years. The adviser may give guidance to the student in the choice of graduate or vocational opportunities.

EGGLESTON LIBRARY

The College Library is housed in a handsome, efficient, modern building carefully designed to meet the needs of undergraduates. It is named for former President Joseph DuPuy Eggleston. The building, constructed in 1961, provides seating space for more than 200 readers, including 92 individual study tables, 11 typing cubicles, 3 seminar rooms, a listening room, and an outdoor reading terrace.

The book collection numbers approximately 63,000 volumes and is growing at the rate of some 4,000 volumes a year. 350 periodicals are received regularly including certain microcard and microfilm editions. The library is a depository for selected government publications. Most of the books have been selected by the teaching faculty and are readily accessible on open shelves. Use of the library is covered by the Honor Code (see page 74).

The rare book room, a memorial to Alfred Alexander Jones, '42, attractively and comfortably furnished, contains the more valuable holdings of the library along with books written by and about the graduates of the college.

A special collection of books and periodicals in the fields of psychology, philosophy, economics, history, and political science, known as "the Charles G. Reigner Collection," is made possible by the annual gifts of Dr. Reigner of Baltimore, Maryland.

The listening room, furnished by Edmonia Carrington Lancaster Metcalf in memory of her husband, Professor John Calvin Metcalf, provides a complete stereophonic phonograph system and both speech and musical recordings.

During the academic year the library is open 96 hours each week. The hours are:

Monday-Friday	8:30 a.m.-12:00 midnight
Saturday	8:30 a.m.- 5:00 p.m.
Sunday	2:00 p.m.-12:00 midnight

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

The objectives of the college health service are in accord with those laid down by the American College Health Association.

An applicant for entrance is required to submit a medical certificate from a physician, stating that he is in good health and not handicapped by physical defects that disqualify him for college work. An entrance physical examination is given each student by the college physician, and the student is examined by him for each sport he wishes to enter. Special examinations are given as needed. The college physician keeps in touch with the students who need his attention.

INFIRMARY SERVICE

The infirmary is open at all times and takes care of the majority of conditions which require medical and minor surgical attention. Sick call is held at the infirmary by the college physician once each day except Sunday. The college does not assume any responsibility for any medical attention beyond that given in the infirmary by the college physician.

In cases which have to be handled outside the infirmary, the desires of the student's family and family physician are carried out whenever possible. When an emergency arises, parents are notified immediately.

The college provides its students with group accident and sickness insurance. Each student is insured against loss resulting from accidental body injuries up to $1,000 per accident. For sickness requiring hospitalization, the coverage provides up to $12.50 per day for room and board for a maximum of 30 days per sickness, in addition to surgical benefits and reimbursement for various other hospital charges.

The Southside Community Hospital, a modern facility in Farmville, is available for hospitalization, X-rays, and laboratory work. The college physician is a member of the staff of the hospital.

Infirmary service is provided to regularly matriculated students only.

ATHLETICS

Hampden-Sydney College offers the very latest athletic advantages, including a fully-equipped gymnasium and excellent facilities for football, baseball, basketball, wrestling, tennis, and track.

No one shall be a member or manager of any college athletic team who is not a regularly matriculated student.

The college is not liable for injuries received in any athletic practice or contest, or for hospital and doctor's bills, or for any other expenses resulting from such injuries.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Recognizing the importance of physical exercise to the maintenance of student health, the Athletic Department at Hampden-Sydney College offers a comprehensive program of intramural activities which provides every student with opportunity to indulge in recreation and pleasant social relations. This program, conducted under the supervision of the faculty, includes all seasonal sports from the beginning of autumn through the end of spring.

MILITARY PROGRAMS

Although Hampden-Sydney College does not have an ROTC program, several commissioning programs are available. The U. S. Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class or Platoon Leaders Class (Aviation) affords the qualified student an opportunity to become a Marine Officer, after earning a baccalaureate degree. PLC's attend two six-week summer training sessions and must maintain a minimum C average while in college.

The Marine Corps Officer representatives visit Hampden-Sydney College during the academic year to provide additional information.

LOCATION

Hampden-Sydney College is located seven miles south of Farmville, Virginia, just off U. S. Route 15.

Farmville is on the main line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and on the Richmond-Knoxville line of the Atlantic Greyhound Corporation.

The post office is Hampden-Sydney, Virginia. The telegraph, express, and freight offices are at Farmville. The college has long-distance telephone connections through Lynchburg.

Trunks, if forwarded by express, should be sent prepaid, marked clearly with sender's name in care of Hampden-Sydney College, Farmville, Virginia.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give and bequeath to the President and Trustees of Hampden-Sydney College the sum of for the use of said institution.

LEGAL TITLE

"PRESIDENT AND TRUSTEES OF HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE"
Communications on business should be addressed to the President.

EMERGENCIES

In an emergency, parents may seek assistance from any of the officers of the administration.

Administrative Regulations

FACULTY ADVISERS

All students are assigned advisers carefully chosen from the faculty. The details of registration and progress throughout the year are matters of concern to these advisers. The students are urged to consult with them periodically.

In the spring of the sophomore year, each student must declare his major, or area of concentration, and a professor in this field will be assigned as permanent adviser. During the period of spring registration the new adviser will counsel with the student and plan an effective program for the junior and senior years. The adviser may give guidance to the student in the choice of graduate or vocational opportunities.

REGISTRATION AND CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

New students report to the campus on Sunday, September 10, 1967, and will register for classes on Monday, September 11. Returning students matriculate on Tuesday, September 12.

During the month of April each student planning to return for the next session must carry out spring registration and pay the Advance Tuition Deposit. In spring registration the student will list for his adviser the courses desired for the fall semester, and this list will become his fall registration unless changes are requested in the ensuing summer months. The class schedule is devised from spring registrations, and the student returning in September finds his personal schedule complete even to the assignment of laboratories. Schedule preparation conducted in this way is fair to all, it reduces to a minimum the number of conflicts, and it eliminates for most students the usual tedium of registration.

When matriculation is complete and all students have received their schedules, changes of schedule are not encouraged. Returning students have had the four months of summer in which to review plans, and they are permitted to change the list of courses at any time and without charge before the day of matriculation. However, beginning with the day of registration and extending through the week which follows, a change of schedule will require payment of a $5 fee. In the second week, a fee of $10 will be charged for each change of schedule. No changes are permitted after the second week.

Although new students have the benefits of comprehensive guidance during registration, some adjustments in schedule may be necessary. Accordingly, new students may make schedule changes free of charge during the first week but must pay $5 for each change in the second week. No changes are permitted after the second week.

A student may drop courses carried above the minimum course requirement any time during the first eight weeks of the semester.

For the beginning of the second semester similar registration policies, including fees, are in effect.

COURSE REGULATIONS

1. Every student must carry a minimum course load of fifteen hours each semester.
2. No student may take more than sixteen hours in any semester unless he has passed at least fifteen hours in the previous semester.
3. No student may take more than 19 hours in any semester.
4. A student hopelessly deficient in one subject, with the permission of the instructor, adviser, and the academic dean, may drop that course. The grade for the semester will be recorded as W.F.

NOTE: These course regulations may be modified by action of the executive committee of the faculty.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE COURSES

First-year courses in modern foreign languages are intended for students who have had no previous training in those languages. No credit will be given for a first-year course in a modern language unless it is followed by the second-year course in the same language. Exceptions to this rule may be made in special cases subject to the approval of the Executive Committee of the Faculty. This approval must be secured before enrollment in the first-year course.

A candidate for the B.A. degree must complete in college two years of a classical language and two years of modern language.

In the case of a student who directly enters and successfully completes two 300-level semester courses, the two-year requirement will be waived.

A candidate for the B.S. degree must complete two 300-level semester courses in one foreign language, or two 200-level semester courses in each of two foreign languages, or Latin 103-104 and two 200-level semester courses in another foreign language.

EXAMINATIONS

In all classes examinations are held at the end of each semester. A charge of $5.00 payable to the business manager is made for special examinations.

RE-EXAMINATIONS

Re-examinations may be granted seniors if the professor concerned and the academic dean approve. The re-examination will be in lieu of the first (regularly scheduled) examination only, and will not substitute for all previous grades of the course. Passing the re-examination will entitle the student to no better than a D in the course.

DEAN'S LISTS

The First Dean's List is based on a grade point ratio of 2.5 with no grade below B. The Second Dean's List is based on a grade point ratio of 2.2 with no grade below C. No student, except a senior, who is carrying less than fifteen hours is eligible for either dean's list.

SEMESTER REPORTS

At the end of each semester a grade report is sent to the parent or guardian of each student. Twice during the first semester and once during the second semester, reports of unsatisfactory progress in specific courses are similarly sent.

CLASS STANDING

The requirements for class standing shall be as follows: sophomore—two semesters of work (or the equivalent), 18 semester hours, and 12 quality units; junior—four semesters of work (or the equivalent), 50 semester hours, and 44 quality units; senior—six semesters of work (or the equivalent), 86 semester hours, and 80 quality units.

SCHOLARSHIP REQUIREMENTS

To maintain acceptable scholastic standing, the student should earn a C average. The Executive Committee of the Faculty will review students' records at the end of each semester and place on warning any student whose record falls significantly below the minimum standard. A student on academic warning will be subject to suspension for one or more terms at the end of the next semester if his average is still below C. (In the case of an extremely poor record, suspension need not be preceded by formal warning.) Continuance on warning for another semester, instead of suspension, may be imposed if the Executive Committee believes that improvement has been shown and that the student is making an honest effort to reach acceptable scholastic standing. A student not on warning may be suspended for one or more semesters if his work for a semester is quite inferior.

WITHDRAWAL FROM COLLEGE

Any student who withdraws from college during the school year should sign a resignation card at the office of either dean. A student resigning on or after January 1 of the first semester or May 1 of the second semester will be suspended and will receive a grade of W.F. in all courses.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Since a college education is initiated and given direction by the work of the classroom, class attendance is essential. Students who find it necessary to leave the campus for medical reasons are expected to consult with the college physician. Absences for medical reasons require a written statement from the attending physician. Students who find it necessary to miss classes for a number of days should inform the dean of students.

TRANSFER CREDITS

A student transferring college credit from another institution will receive not more than one quality unit for each semester hour of credit accepted.

Quality units are to be allowed only for courses which would apply to a degree at Hampden-Sydney and which are not being presented for credit toward a degree at any other institution. No credit will be given for correspondence courses.

CREDIT FOR SUMMER WORK

A student desiring to secure credit for work done in the summer school of another college should first have the approval of the professor in whose department the credit is sought; otherwise he may find that the course taken is not the equivalent of the course given at Hampden-Sydney College and that he is not entitled to credit.

The college will grant no credit unless the grade for the course taken in summer school is higher than the lowest passing grade.

Only 30 of the 124 hours required for graduation may be earned in summer school.

CHAPEL ATTENDANCE

For longer than a century and a half Hampden-Sydney has had as her major objective the building of Christian character. A strong moral and spiritual atmosphere on the campus is most conducive to this end. This atmosphere is created by the students and the faculty centering their faith in God as He is revealed in Christ.

Attendance at chapels and at convocations is required.

HEALTH REGULATIONS

1. All medical excuses require a written statement from the attending physician. Students living in their own homes enjoy the benefits of the Student Health Service except infirmary room service.

2. A student ill enough to be in bed must be in the infirmary, where he can have medical attention and care of the nurses. No excuses are given unless this rule is observed.

3. Students at home on account of illness are required to notify the college physician and to report to the dean of students for an excuse upon their return to college.

4. Students who have had or have been exposed to any infectious disease must report to the college physician before attending classes or mingling with other students.

5. A student who desires an appointment with an outside physician or dentist should consult the college physician before making the appointment. This is a requirement when the appointment involves an absence from class. He is to bring a statement from the attending physician to the dean of students before returning to class.

6. No student may leave the campus because of illness unless he has a medical excuse from the college physician.

7. No student is allowed to have in his room ultra-violet lamps, infra-red lamps, or other forms of treatment except with the written permission of the college physician. When students are taking special treatments, this fact should be reported to the college physician.

ROOM AND BOARD

Students must room in the college dormitories in assigned rooms or in houses approved by the dean of students. Each student is responsible for any damage to his room or college property therein.

Dormitory rooms are furnished with dressers, single beds, mattresses, springs, desks, and chairs. Bed coverings, pillows, towels, and the like are furnished by the student.

Cooking in dormitory rooms is not permitted.

No unauthorized electrical equipment will be permitted, and no changes in the wiring shall be made except by the college electrician. The misuse of a radio, television, record player, or tape recorder will necessitate confiscation until the end of the term.

Married students' apartments must also be approved by the dean of students. This should be done before any financial arrangements are made with the landlord.

The college maintains a dining hall in which the most modern equipment, a balanced diet, and excellent service are maintained under the direction of an expert dietitian. All resident students must board at the dining hall. The dormitories and the dining hall are closed during holidays and immediately after Commencement.

AUTOMOBILES, FIREARMS, DOGS

No freshman may keep a car. Any upperclassman is eligible to have a car at Hampden-Sydney provided a permit is obtained from the office of the dean of students and the car is operated in accordance with existing college rules and regulations. No student receiving financial aid from the college may have a car on campus without the written permission of the student aid committee.

No student is permitted to operate a motorcycle, motorbike, or scooter in the village of Hampden-Sydney.

No student is allowed to have a private airplane available for his use while he is at the college.

No student, while he is at the college, may take flying lessons, except with the written consent of his parent and with the approval of the dean of students.

No student is permitted to possess firearms at Hampden-Sydney.*

No student is allowed to bring or to keep a dog at Hampden-Sydney.

The possession or the setting off of fireworks at Hampden-Sydney is forbidden.

Students are expected to abide by the laws of the Commonwealth with respect to alcohol. The possession of alcoholic beverages on the campus or in any building connected with the college is contrary to college policy. Students blatantly disregarding this policy will be subject to discipline.

DISCIPLINE

The discipline of the college is in the hands of the president, the deans, and faculty, under regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees. Its object is to maintain regularity and order in the institution and to cultivate among the students the spirit of honor and manliness. The principle on which it proceeds is what has for many years been known in the universities and colleges of Virginia as "The Honor System," and has been found most effective in the development of good character and conduct. Fortunately, other means are seldom needed to secure the desired end, but, when necessary, they are resorted to in the form of admonition or suspension, as the gravity of the offense may demand.

EXCLUSION FROM COLLEGE

The college authorities reserve the right to exclude at any time a student whose conduct or academic standing they regard as unacceptable; in such a case fees will not be refunded or remitted, in whole or in part.

*Students who desire to hunt must arrange with the dean of students for the privilege of having firearms during the hunting season. But no firearms may be kept in the dormitories, fraternities, or in other living quarters of students. Abuse of this regulation may lead to suspension without warning.

Student Organizations

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student self-government has long been a cherished tradition and institution at Hampden-Sydney. The present constitution was adopted by the student body in 1963. Based largely upon past experience, it is designed to meet present and changing needs. Every matriculate of the college is a member of the organization.

Student Assembly. The Student Assembly transacts all student body business and, as far as such powers are delegated to it by the faculty, it has legislative jurisdiction over various phases of student campus life. The Assembly is composed of representatives from the social fraternities and non-fraternity men and the officers of the student body.

Judiciary Board. The judicial power of Student Government is vested in the Judiciary Board. This body is composed of elected representatives from the different classes. It tries cases arising from violations of Student Assembly regulations.

Student Council. The Student Council is explained below.

During the 1965-66 session the structure of Student Government is undergoing study, with the possibility of revision or reorganization.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

The heart of the Honor System is individual responsibility. It assumes that every student is a gentleman and will conduct himself in an honorable and upright manner in all phases of student life; it further assumes that every student is concerned with the strict observance of these principles for his own sake, for the sake of his fellow students, and for the sake of the college.

Student Council (Honor Council). The Student Council (Honor Council) by authorization of the Board of Trustees and of the faculty has jurisdiction over matters concerning breach of the Honor Code. It is composed of eleven men: three from the senior class, two from each of the other three classes, the vice-president and the president of the student body. The president is the presiding officer. The freshmen members do not have a vote. Eight out of nine votes constitute conviction. If a man is found guilty, the president of the Student Council reports the case to the Dean of Students, who informs the parents of the student in question. Student Council meetings are closed, and members of the Council are under oath never to reveal any of the proceedings designated as confidential at the time of the meeting. If a man is found guilty, the student body is informed; otherwise, the case is closed in order to protect the man who was initially charged but found innocent.

Pledge. Before a student may matriculate, he must sign a statement to the effect that he understands what is expected of him under the Honor System and that the infraction of the Honor Code at any time during the session is punishable by dishonorable dismissal from college. A professor may require a student to sign a formal pledge on any work.

Infractions of the Honor Code

1. Cheating (Giving or receiving aid without consent of the professor on tests, quizzes, assignments, or examinations is cheating).
2. Plagiarism.
3. Lying.
4. Stealing.
5. Failure to report Honor Code offenses.

The student's obligation under the Honor System does not stop at the limits of the campus but applies in all places during the school year.

Reporting a Breach of the Honor Code. All suspected Honor Code violations should be reported to an officer of the Student Government or a member of the Honor Council. The president of the student body will notify the accused of the charges against him and give him the opportunity to obtain a counselor.

Penalty for a Breach of Honor. The penalty for a breach of honor is dismissal from college.

The Pledge. On my honor I have neither given nor received aid on this work, nor am I aware of any breach of the Honor Code that I shall not immediately report.

RELIGIOUS LIFE AT HAMPDEN-SYDNEY

It has been the aim of Hampden-Sydney since its inception to give to the Christian faith its rightful place in the lives of all who are associated with it: faculty, administration, coaching staff, and students. As a result, many ministers, missionaries, church-college teachers, and others engaged in church vocations are numbered among its graduates. Furthermore, the college has sent into the churches a great, though often unheralded, number of Christian laymen. A recent survey revealed that at least two-thirds of all alumni at present occupy specific positions of leadership in their particular churches.

The College Chaplain, who is also pastor of College Church (Presbyterian) on the campus, is responsible for the planning of the college religious services and for the coordination of denominational student activities. He serves as an adviser to the Campus Christian Association, and he is available at all times for personal counseling.

The Campus Christian Association

The CCA seeks to exert a constructive influence on both the spiritual and social life of all students. During orientation week an effort is made to help the new men feel that they are among friends.

Under the auspices of the CCA, fall religious emphasis services are held to confront the campus with the claims of Jesus Christ upon the minds and hearts of all students and faculty. In the spring the CCA provides a lecture series in which the relationship of Christianity to some phase of contemporary culture is explored by a Christian scholar of particular competence in his own field. In each case opportunities are provided for students to hold individual and small group conferences with the guest speakers.

In addition, the CCA provides many opportunities for students to engage in Christian witness, service, and social fellowship on and beyond the campus.

Denominational Activities

While Hampden-Sydney College is an institution founded by and related to the Presbyterian Church in the United States, it encourages the work of all evangelical denominations. The nearness of Longwood College (for girls) in Farmville provides an opportunity for coeducational religious activities. Student groups are organized for Baptists, Episcopalians, Lutherans, and Methodists through the churches of these denominations in Farmville; and College Church (Presbyterian) on the Hampden-Sydney campus and the Farmville Presbyterian Church jointly sponsor an active Westminster Fellowship.

THE UNION-PHILANTHROPIC LITERARY SOCIETY

The present society is the result of the merger of the old Union and Philanthropic Societies. The Union Society was founded in 1789 and is second only to the Cliosophic Society of Princeton University in point of age. It is made up of a group of students who are interested in the various forms of public speaking.

The Literary Society assembles for serious considerations, to instruct and be instructed, and that by a mutual clashing of wit, one's intellect may be sharpened for later life. The Literary Society furnishes the opportunity for debating, public speaking, and presenting papers. It is the opportunity to make immediate use of the knowledge that is acquired in class. The Literary Society is invaluable as an active outlet on campus for intellectual creation. Freshmen especially are invited to avail themselves of the benefits of the Society.

THE JONGLEURS (THE HAMPDEN-SYDNEY PLAYERS)

Students interested in dramatics are invited to seek admission to the Jongleurs. Men must convince the faculty coach and a committee of student members of their aptitude. The club presents plays in conjunction with the Longwood College players and on occasion with casts composed entirely of Hampden-Sydney students.

THE GLEE CLUB

Students who are musically inclined have an opportunity for expression of their talent. Some sort of choral organization has always existed at the college and full opportunity is given every student to try out for the club. Several trips are taken during the fall and spring.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The students publish an annual volume called The Kaleidoscope, of which seventy volumes will have been issued by June 1966. This publication, intended primarily to foster college spirit, contains the rolls and photographs of the classes and various organizations.

A typical Hampden-Sydney fraternity house living room

The Hampden-Sydney Tiger, a student newspaper reflecting the various phases of college life, has been published since 1919.

The Hampden-Sydney Magazine is published twice a year by the students. This publication contains short stories and articles by members of the staff and student body. It is designed to encourage creative writing on the campus.

GREEK LETTER SOCIAL FRATERNITIES

There are nine national Greek letter fraternities at Hampden-Sydney. These are all members of the Interfraternity Council which formulates the rules for rushing and initiating new members. The following national fraternities are represented at Hampden-Sydney: Chi Phi, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta.

PHI BETA KAPPA

The Eta of Virginia Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society annually in March elects to membership a limited number of seniors who have exhibited scholarly attainment and distinction. Phi Beta Kappa members are chosen from among those students who have been in residence at Hampden-Sydney for a minimum of two years, have a grade point ratio of 2.5 on work taken at this college, and have passed all courses.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

In the spring of 1924, Lambda Circle of the National Honor Society of Omicron Delta Kappa was organized at Hampden-Sydney. The object of this society is to encourage and honor leadership, and to utilize this leadership for the highest good of the college. The membership is composed of the recognized leaders in the various college activities and certain members of the faculty chosen by the student members of the society.

SIGMA UPSILON, LITERARY FRATERNITY

The Sphinx Chapter meets approximately every three weeks. Some members of the faculty and chosen juniors and seniors meet to discuss literary men and movements, to read papers, and to review books.

CHI BETA PHI, SCIENTIFIC FRATERNITY

Chi Beta Phi, honorary scientific fraternity for undergraduates, is associated with the American Academy for the Advancement of Science. Gamma chapter brings in scientists of renown from other institutions to give lectures and demonstrations, the public often being invited. Regular meetings are used for discussion of research by local members and for occasional lectures on advanced topics by the faculty.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA, DRAMATIC FRATERNITY

This fraternity honors outstanding leaders on the campus in the field of dramatics. Members are elected from students who have shown a decided aptitude in dramatics and from students who have done outstanding work in staging and production.

PI DELTA EPSILON, JOURNALISTIC FRATERNITY

Pi Delta Epsilon honors leadership in the field of journalism and associated activities. The Hampden-Sydney chapter was chartered in 1939. The fraternity seeks to coordinate the various publications by bringing the editors and business managers into one group.

ETA SIGMA PHI, CLASSICAL FRATERNITY

An honorary fraternity for upper classmen proficient in classical studies, Beta Theta Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi was established at Hampden-Sydney in 1942. It has promoted interest in ancient civilization through the purchase of Greek coins and records, and the presentation of various events of a classical nature.

PSI CHI, PSYCHOLOGY FRATERNITY

The Psychology Club became affiliated with Psi Chi in 1962. The purpose of Psi Chi is to improve the student's knowledge, interest, and understanding of psychology by sponsoring speakers, films, and special meetings. The membership requirements are: (1) an interest in psychology as a science; (2) completion of at least 8 hours of psychology with a grade of B or better; (3) an average of C or better in all other subjects; and (4) election by the local Psi Chi chapter.

CIRCLE K

In connection with the Richmond Kiwanis Club, a chapter of Circle K, a leadership society, has been formed at Hampden-Sydney.

Trophies and Awards

THE GAMMON CUP

In memory of Dr. Edgar G. Gammon, pastor of College Church 1917-1923 and president of the college 1939-1955, a cup is awarded annually to the member of the graduating class who has best served the college. Character, scholarship, and athletic ability are considered.

THE ALGERNON SYDNEY SULLIVAN MEDALLIONS

In honor of its first president, Algernon Sydney Sullivan, the New York Southern Society presents annually the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallions. One recipient of this award is a member of the graduating class who has distinguished himself for excellence of character and generous service to his fellows. The other recipient is chosen from those friends of the college who have been conspicuously helpful to and associated with the institution in its effort to encourage and preserve a high standard of morals.

DEBATE COUNCIL AWARD

The Debate Council, known as The Senators, makes an annual award in the form of a loving cup to that student of the college who, in the judgment of the Council, makes the best record in intercollegiate debating during the year.

THE ROSEWELL PAGE PRIZE

In memory of the Hon. Rosewell Page of Richmond and Hanover County, Dr. and Mrs. Frank S. Johns of Richmond, Virginia, have established a prize of fifty dollars to be awarded annually to that student who has made the greatest improvement in public speaking during the session.

THE KEARFOTT STONE MEMORIAL

Doctor and Mrs. Harry Benjamin Stone of Roanoke, Virginia, established, in 1939, a memorial to perpetuate the memory of their gifted son, Kearfott, whose death occurred soon after his graduation from Hampden-Sydney in 1935. The annual income from this memorial is devoted to music and music appreciation on the campus.

ANNA CARRINGTON HARRISON AWARD

This award as a memorial to his mother is made through the generosity of Mr. Fred N. Harrison of Richmond, Va. The income from his gift furnishes annually a medal and $50 in cash to that student who shows for the year the most constructive leadership.

CAMILLA VIRGINIA TAYLOR CRAWLEY MUSIC MEMORIAL

In 1948 the Camilla Virginia Taylor Crawley Music Memorial was established by Mrs. Crawley's husband, Charles William Crawley, and their two children, Margaret Alma Crawley and Thomas Edward Crawley. The Memorial consists of an award of $100 to be made annually to that student who has rendered outstanding service to the development of music in the college and who shows promise in that field. The award is to be used by the recipient to finance further training which will better fit him to serve in the musical activity of the college. A committee composed of the director of music and two faculty members designated by the president of the college is to select the recipient of the award.

MACON REED AWARD

This award of $100 is given to the best sophomore mathematician.

DAVID C. WILSON MEMORIAL GREEK PRIZE

In memory of Dr. David C. Wilson, professor of Greek at Hampden-Sydney 1923-1957 and dean of the college 1939-1954, a prize of fifty dollars is given annually to a student showing most proficiency and promise in Greek. This award was established through gifts of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton H. Short, Jr., of Chase City, Virginia, and other friends and alumni of the college.

JOHN FRANKLIN KINCAID, JR., MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

When John Franklin Kincaid, Jr., '38, Lieutenant, USN, Medical Corps, fell in action off Okinawa April 12, 1945, a promising medical career was cut short. To help prepare others for the work he left, his wife, mother, and grandmother have established this scholarship to aid pre-medical students of character and ability.

ADAMSON SCHOLARSHIP

By the gift of $20,000, Colonel George E. Adamson in 1946 established the Adamson Scholarship in memory of his wife and himself.

This scholarship of approximately $500 is awarded annually by the president and faculty to that outstanding senior who by his financial need, his character, and his promise most deserves its benefits.

H. SPENCER EDMUNDS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Second Presbyterian Church of Roanoke, Va., established in 1950 a ministerial scholarship in memory of their former pastor, Rev. H. Spencer Edmunds.

ALFRED L. LORRAINE, JR., MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

In 1954 Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Lorraine established this scholarship as a memorial to their son who gave his life for his country in World War II. Their purpose in establishing this living memorial was set forth in these words: "It is our intention and desire that the same shall be used and administered in such manner as to assist in the training and education of young men for Christian citizenship in cases where they might not otherwise receive such training and education because of a lack of financial means."

BURROUGHS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

The will of Mr. Charles F. Burroughs provides that the Norfolk Foundation shall select recipients of the Memorial Scholarships from a list of recommendations to be submitted to the Foundation by Hampden-Sydney College. Students from the Tidewater area, in particular, Norfolk, are eligible for consideration. For information write to The Norfolk Foundation, 400 A Royster Building, Norfolk, Virginia.

Special Bequests

DABNEY MEMORIAL FUND

This is a gift of $10,000 for endowment by Dr. Alexander Thomson, of Cincinnati, as a memorial to his father-in-law, Dr. Charles W. Dabney, and to Dr. Robert L. Dabney, his father, in recognition of their lifetime services to the cause and spirit of true education. In the donor's words "The lives of men who unselfishly dedicate themselves to the betterment of their kind demand that those who enter the commercial life should subscribe at least of their means to the recognition of the unselfishness and sacrifice of those who deliberately cast profit aside for the good of others."

MARY S. ROYSTER FOUNDATION

This represents substantial gifts to the endowment of the College, made by Mr. F. S. Royster, husband of Mrs. Mary S. Royster, and their children—Mrs. Fannie R. Cooke, Mrs. Mary R. White, F. S. Royster, Jr., and William S. Royster—in recognition of her great influence for good on their lives, and with the wish through this gift to perpetuate this influence in the lives of young men attending Hampden-Sydney College.

THOMAS STAMPS MEMORIAL

To Dr. Thomas Stamps, Class of 1868, a noble man of God and outstanding physician, his nieces, Mrs. Fannie R. Cooke and Mrs. Mary R. White, through their generous gifts to the endowment funds of the College, have established this lasting memorial.

MARY S. GIBSON MEMORIAL

In accordance with the terms of the will of Miss Mary S. Gibson, the residue of her estate passed to Hampden-Sydney College. The sums derived from this source were, by vote of the Board of Trustees of the college, made a part of the permanent endowment funds of the institution.

In recognition of this goodness at her hands, the Board directed that this fact be recorded annually in the general catalogue of the college as a permanent memorial to this kind friend.

THE. EDW. HERRMAN COHN BOOK FUND

An endowment fund in memory of the late Edw. Herrman Cohn, '02, of Princess Anne, Maryland, was set up by Mrs. Cohn in order to strengthen the library holdings in Bible and religion.

THE DONALD L. CORK BOOK FUND

Mr. Donald L. Cork, '13, of Charleston, West Virginia, established a special library endowment fund in 1962 to be used to purchase books and journals in the fine arts.

BLAIR MEMORIAL FUND

The Chair of Latin at Hampden-Sydney, because of a memorial fund given by his daughter, Miss Ellen C. Blair, has been named in honor of Dr. Walter Blair, for many years head of the Department of Latin.

THE SQUIRES MEMORIAL

To perpetuate the memory of William Henry Tappey Squires (Class of 1894), long an honored Trustee of the College, a talented historian, and a devout man of God, his friends and admirers gave generously in 1948 to the endowment of the college to establish the Squires Chair of History.

MEMORIAL CHAIR OF BIBLE

The Chair of Bible, by action of the Board of Trustees of the College, has been named The First Presbyterian Church of Danville Chair of Bible in recognition of the generous gifts made to the College by the ever loyal members of this church.

PROFESSORIAL CHAIRS

In November 1966 the Trustees established five professorial chairs, named for alumni and friends who have made substantial contributions to the endowment funds of the College: The George H. and Minnie Bradley Alexander Chair of Physics; The Wycliffe C. Jackson Chair of Philosophy; The Albert F. Patton Chair of Economics; The Francis B. Converse Chair of Romance Languages; and The Eugene C. Hurt Chair of English.

BOOKER-STEBBINS STUDENT LOAN FUND

This fund represents a combination of the sums left for this purpose under the will of Dr. William D. Booker and the will of Joseph Stebbins.

MORTON HALL

Through the generosity of Samuel P. Morton, Jr., of Baltimore, a recitation hall was erected in 1936 as a memorial to his ancestor, Captain John Morton, one of the founders of Hampden-Sydney College.
